Report Dulles Goes To Confer With DeGaulle

LONDON, Dec. 4.—(INS)—John Foster Dulles, special adviser to Secretary of State Marshall at the Big Four Foreign Ministers' conference, left today for Paris reportedly to confer with Gen. Charles De Gaulle on the Ruhr problem.

The adviser left London on the Golden Arrow Express and his reported intention to see De Gaulle caused concern in French delegation sources.

A spokesman for the American delegation to the foreign ministers conference in London, insisted Dulles received Marshall's permission for an entirely "private" visit to Paris.

Controversy Over Ruhr

The controversy over Germany's Ruhr, Europe's most important industrial area, arises from France's desire for stronger international control over the Ruhr than America proposes.

Re-Argument In State Tax Base Decision Asked

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 4.—(INS)—The State Supreme Court meeting in Philadelphia was asked today for a re-argument in its recent decision upholding the Commonwealth's new law broadening tax bases for municipalities.

The high court handed down a ruling November 26, in a suit brought against the school district of Robinson township, after taking original jurisdiction.

They ruled that the act, passed by the last session of the legislature, giving all school districts in the state with the exception of those in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh the right to tax items not already taxed by the state, was legal.

The Robinson township school board, under provisions of the act, imposed a tax of five cents a ton on all coal mined by the open pit or strip mining method.

Quote Decision

The petition for re-argument, filed by the Pittsburgh law firm of Rose, Eichenauer, Stewart and Rose, quotes from the Supreme Court's decision:

"We were informed at the argument that such coal is not otherwise taxed locally or by the Commonwealth."

It is claimed that was erroneous, because the plaintiffs have complied with a 1945 act, known as

Ask Congress To Cut Income Taxes At Once

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The National Retail Dry Goods association asked Congress today to slash five and one-half billion dollars immediately from the tax burden chiefly through reducing income taxes up to 25 per cent.

The association's immediate and long-range programs were presented to the House Ways and Means committee by Arthur R. Kaiser, general manager of the tax department of Sears, Roebuck and Co., and a member of the dry goods taxation committee.

Urges Immediate Cut

Kaiser recommended that income taxes immediately be cut 25 per cent on taxable incomes of $2,000 or less and 10 per cent on all taxable incomes over that amount.

In a long range view, Kaiser said that the top tax rate in any bracket should not exceed 50 per cent.

The association's immediate program also suggested:

Repeal of wartime excise taxes except on liquor and tobacco; retention of present personal exemptions; all income of husbands and wives should be taxed as community property; credit individuals for taxes paid on corporation income; eliminate tax on inter-corporate dividends; remove the penalty tax of two per cent for the filing of consolidated returns; carry net losses forward only, but for a five-year period.

U. S. Delegation Has Little Hope In London Parley

Fear That Soviet Tactics Doom Big Four Conference To Failure

DELIBERATE DELAY MOLOTOV'S PLAN

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(European General Manager International News Service)

LONDON, Dec. 4.—An American delegation source revealed today that the U. S. aggregation at the Big Four conference is privately convinced—as a whole—that the parley is doomed to failure.

Leading members of the American delegation, as well as its expert advisors, are said to have come reluctantly to this sad conclusion because of tactics which Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov has pursued since the conference began ten days ago.

Soviet Strategy

These tactics have convinced the delegates that the main objective of Soviet strategy at this parley is three-fold:

1.—To try to turn the German people against the western powers, especially the United States, by blaming them for the partition of Germany;

2.—To pave the way for establishment of a "national" German puppet government in the Soviet-controlled eastern part of Germany; and

3.—To avoid any settlement of the Austrian problem which would involve relinquishing Russia's economic stranglehold on Austria's key industries.

In pursuance of this strategy, Molotov is considered to be de-

Atom Control Issue Again Facing U. N.

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 4.—The temporary lull at the United Nations in the wake of the 1947 general assembly will end abruptly early next week with resumption of efforts to draft a working formula for atom control and disarmament pacts.

Although the violence in Palestine will focus attention on the expected initial gathering of the Palestine commission at Lake Success, the equally important calendar events listed:

Events Listed:

1.—Resumption of regular meetings by the 11-nation commission for conventional armaments.

2.—A new round of sessions by the atomic energy commission.

3.—The security council's consideration of its responsibilities in the Palestine partition plan and a canvassing of the Indonesian conflict.

In all three categories, renewed clashes can be expected between the United States and Soviet Russia because of the split on basic viewpoint between the east and west powers.

Although competent observers are agreed that the general assembly could never have achieved agreement on Palestine partition without unanimity between Russia and the United States, it is felt ters. They raced through the shower of stones unscathed but an Air France car following in their wake was hit. The driver was injured and windows smashed.

Following an all-night secret session, the Jewish army Haganah, now fully-uniformed, decided to divide Jerusalem into 10 zones, each commanded by an officer equipped with mobile "flying patrols" ready to rush to any point where trouble threatens.

The entire force of 80,000 Haganah men was fully alerted. During the Baghdad attack, the Arabs severed telephone lines of the information office. No members of the staff were molested.

Abdullah Azzam Pasha, secretary of the Arab League, in Cairo, addressed 7,000 Egyptian students in front of the League headquarters. Azzam announced that "recruiting offices" are being opened throughout Egypt, and urged students to join up with "Arabs and Moslems everywhere."

The League official exhorted the students to join that the Moslems might be "ready to meet force with force." He added:

"We prefer death to Zionist subjugation."

New Violence
In Palestine, meanwhile, the third day of a three-day Arab general strike was ushered in with new violence, and the casualty toll mounted hourly.

As the toll of dead and wounded approached the 150-mark for the period since Tuesday, two new Jewish deaths were reported bringing to 32 the number of known dead.

Fighting inside the old city of Jerusalem began last night when an Arab mob poured through a hole blasted in the two-foot thick barricade between the Arab and Jewish sections.

British troops and Jewish militiamen met the invaders with a steady barrage of gun fire, checking the main force, though some of the Arab raiders managed to elude the defenders.

As close-quarters knife and club fighting raged in the labyrinth of narrow corridors interlacing the district, Haganah reinforced Jewish defenses.

In retaliation, the invasion, the Haganah suffered "numerous" casualties, including several whose wounds were described as "serious." Three Arabs and one Jew were slain in initial phases of the fight.

An Arab attempt to break into and desecrate the revered Grand Synagogue of the Old City, inside the old city, resulted in many of the casualties.

gress next month, should reduce domestic spending in proportion to new contributions to be sent abroad.

Can Be Done
Sen. Byrd said that under the leadership of the president and with a sympathetic response from congress, this can be done. He added that it should be done in any case, and that the great and continuing expenditure involved in foreign aid made it more necessary than ever.

Long an advocate of governmental economy, the Virginian insisted that five to six billion dollars could have been paid off the current fiscal budget without substantial interference with essential services.

Byrd also attacked President Truman's request for reimposition of wartime rationing controls, saying:

"American free enterprise, in years of peace will stagnate and die a slow but sure death if businessmen lose control of their own business."

No Appeal To Be Made On State Law Ruled As Invalid

State Not To Appeal Court Decision On Community Property Law

HARRISBURG, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Pennsylvania Attorney General T. McKen Chidsey today announced the commonwealth will not appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court the decision of the State Supreme Court's invalidation of the Community Property Act.

The consensus among legislators was that there would be no attempt to re-enact a new version of the act in the 1949 General Assembly to meet the Appellate Court's objection.

"The issues involved were fully heard and considered by the court," Chidsey asserted, "and in my judgment no petition for a hearing by the State Supreme Court is warranted."

Referring to the court's decision upholding the state's new tax Broadener Law, Chidsey said the statute will "accomplish the aim of the present administration to restore government to the local level."

It will "constitute an important forward step in decentralizing government and reestablishing the principle of home rule contemplated by the nation's founders," he declared.

The court's ruling upholding the act to permit insurance companies to invest in real estate in Pennsylvania was hailed by Chidsey as "very much welcome in affording relief in the present difficult housing problem."

Woodland Blaze Under Control
HARRISBURG, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Fire fighters today brought under control a woodland blaze which laid waste to more than 800 acres of nearby Peters mountain.

Forest officials reported no damage to private property. The blaze was discovered near a railroad line at Speeceville but raged out of control before fire fighters arrived.

The Department of Forests and Waters said the same area was burned 10 years ago.

NEW VIOLENCE IN FRANCE RESULTS IN MANY INJURED

60 gendarmes and guardsmen occupying the Renirid mine. After the skirmish, the strikers were in control of the pits.

Six of those injured required hospitalization. Other strikers halted the Geneva-Paris express in Amberieu, near the Swiss frontier. Detaching the locomotive, the mob extinguished the fires and occupied the nearby station.

For three hours and ten minutes, the depot was under control of the strikers who were ousted only after another locomotive was brought to the scene by gendarmes.

The police dispersed the strikers, and reoccupied the station, after which the new locomotive was attached and the train continued its run.

In northern France, meanwhile, Arras police are working on the theory that striking railroadmen were responsible for the wreck in which 20 persons died and 40 were injured yesterday when a train was derailed by an 80-foot section of unbolting track.

Five Communist railroadmen are being questioned, because of the expert manner in which the line was apparently sabotaged.

The five, all of whom denied responsibility, include Georges Depas, secretary of the Arras Communist section.

Anticipate Reaction
French authorities had anticipated a possible violent Communist reaction to this morning's passage by the heavily-guarded French assembly of Premier Robert Schuman's anti-strike and anti-sabotage legislation.

In another stormy all-night session, the center and rightist members of parliament beat down Communist opposition to complete passage of the bill which provides stiff prison sentences for certain strike actions and sabotage.

The deputies passed, by a 406-183 vote, the third and final section of the strike penalty bill, before adjourning at 4:45 a. m. for a much-needed rest until Friday afternoon.

Passage of the bill as a whole finally was attained by a 413-183 vote.

BRITISH SWEEP PORTS FOR SUNKEN VESSELS
LONDON.—(INS)—In an all-out effort to beat the winter gales, the British authorities in Germany have ordered a speed-up of the salvage of a million tons of sunken ships which are still cluttering up major ports.

Kiel and Hamburg are mostly affected and a total of 500 ships will have to be cleared from the berths and approaches.

Altogether, it is estimated, this work will take at least another five years to complete. German labor under the direction of British technicians is responsible for raising this sunken tonnage.

Occupation Forces Conduct In Japan Thwarts Communists

Lt. General Eichelberger, Commander Of U. S. Eighth Army, Reaches San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, commander of the U. S. Eighth Army occupying Japan, described the conduct of American troops today as a counter-weight to Communist propaganda among the Japanese people.

The general, en route back to his Yokohama post from a visit to Washington, D. C., arrived at San Francisco by plane yesterday. He is staying at Fort Mason until Saturday when he will depart by steamer for the Far East.

Have Won Respect
Praising Gen. Douglas MacArthur's administration of the occupation, Eichelberger, who led his famed Eighth Army through many a gruelling wartime campaign, declared:

"American troops have won the respect and admiration of the Japanese in a far greater degree than anticipated."

"This respect, and the spirit of freedom fostered by General MacArthur, tend to offset much of the Communist propaganda which seems ever present."

Eichelberger said the occupation "will take a long time."

"We just can't walk out," he observed.

He described what he called a "new" Japanese people who, he said, are becoming genuinely Democratic through freedom of speech and woman suffrage.

included in virtually every statement, in addition to discussions of commercial air line problems and the even more pressing situation surrounding the future of air cargo.

All witnesses agreed that the air force must not be permitted to stagnate but must be provided with adequate facilities for research and development.

Chairman Thomas K. Finletter declined comment on the testimony taken by the committee, but declared that the group would "do some hard work" in the next three weeks in order to present its report on time.

Hats of the early Middle Ages were comparatively simple caps or hoods, but in the 14th and 15th centuries, extravagant and eccentric shapes and proportions were developed.

liberately delaying, so long as possible, the discussion of basic issues involved in the German peace settlement in order to obtain full use of the conference as a sounding-board for Soviet propaganda.

The American delegates now believe there is no hope of reaching a satisfactory agreement with Russia either on the questions of Germany or Austria until there is a fundamental change of Soviet foreign policy.

Such a change is considered highly improbable during the course of this conference, and the view prevails in American circles in London that Molotov may submit some compromise proposals before the parley ends.

May Appear Attractive
These proposals probably will appear attractive but—leading U.S. delegates fear—close examination of these offers will reveal them to be a delusion.

The possibility is seen that some face-saving formula will be found to avoid complete collapse of the council of foreign ministers as an instrument for Big Four discussion.

This may be accomplished by setting the date for another meeting in the spring or by appointing a committee to hear views of the other allied states.

Dispute Anticipated
A hefty dispute is anticipated as soon as the Palestine commission attempts to formulate its plans of procedure on taking over and administering the Holy Land during the transitional period.

It is pointed out here that Russia could readily find dissatisfaction with the Palestine commission (Bolivia, Panama, Mexico, Denmark, the Philippines) and on one pretext or another haul the partition issue into the security council and thus subject it to the veto.

An unsatisfactory element to Russia currently is the fact that the Jerusalem statute is to be drafted without her participation.

This is the first boomerang coming from the Soviet boycott of the trusteeship council, which put to work a six-man committee to devise the governing instrument for Jerusalem in accordance with the latter's designation of a free city under the partition scheme

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. Ostreicher, INS Foreign Director

The pain and suffering, the shooting and bloodshed, the age-old appeal to religious differences and the rivalries embedded throughout the centuries approached a climax in Palestine and the whole Middle East today.

And inevitably the violence attendant upon a presumed "Holy War" revealed the personality of a very small man who considered himself better fitted than any other to decide the destiny of Islam.

He was, of course, an entirely discredited personage called Benito Juarez Mussolini, once Il Duce and dictator of Italy.

Mussolini's Idea
Long before Adolf Hitler, Mussolini saw the potential value of fomenting an Arab rebellion as a means of breaking for all time the prestige of Anglo-American status east of Suez.

Mussolini was guided in his political philosophy by a firm conviction that the Arabs needed only a "great leader"—and that was his own definition of himself—to bring about a fresh geographical and cultural situation that would "liberate" the Mediterranean Sea.

His objective was to break what he called the chains linking Gibraltar with Suez and thus holding in thrall the Islamic populations on the eastern end which are now so concerned and so outspoken in their opposition to Palestine partition.

The complete extinction of Mussolini is far beyond questioning, as against any supposed resurrection of his pupil and later Master Adolf Hitler.

Opportunist Spirit
But the spirit of opportunists seeking to capitalize on a crisis dividing human beings on religious as well as political grounds seems to be one that is hard indeed to dispel.

For untold centuries the civilizations, the cultures and the dividing opinions of the Middle and Near East have found themselves in seemingly irreconcilable opposition. Many wars through countless generations have stemmed from differences arising among ordinarily peaceful peoples in the eastern areas that traditionally are believed to have encompassed the Garden of Eden.

And certainly history shows that some of the most powerful if most vainglorious conquerors of all times came from the Mediterranean areas between East and West—Alexander from northern Greece, Tamerlane from Persia, Genghis Kahn from the Russian Steppes.

It was the aim of the historic fighters of the early ages to strike a cleavage between ancient Arabic tradition and what later was to become western democracy. Mussolini took earliest possible advantage of a twentieth-century trend.

His preachings are still not without hearers.

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

I just had another letter from my friend "Sandy" Sanders in Oakland, Calif.

He tells me about his dog "Rusty".

"So Dick disappeared and came back with this little mongrel. 'What's his name?' I asked. 'How do I know?' said Dick. 'We picked him up in East Oakland. He was lost or something.'"

"I looked the rascal over—pointed ears, bushy tail, deep brown and alert eyes, small and wiry, and said, 'Hello Rusty.'"

"He gave a little bark and wagged his tail. That settled it. I removed the rope that hung about the mutt's neck, pointed to the open car and said: 'All right, Rusty, get in.'"

"He did, as to the manor born, bounding into the rear seat—and he's been in our hearts ever since."

You may remember that I used to write a lot about our little Sealyham, Deuce, who died, a couple of years ago. He was a thoroughbred in every respect—with all the virtues and faults of a thoroughbred.

We loved him very much and will never forget him.

But I sometimes think that perhaps we loved Mickey even more.

Mickey was a mutt, just like Sandy's Rusty.

I picked her up in the Bide-a-Wee Society in New York, where you used to get a dog, including license and leash, for two dollars.

All the other dogs there tried their very best salesmanship to be taken out into homes. They crowded to the front of the kennels and made you believe that you were just the person they had been looking for.

But Mickey—also small, wiry, brown-eyed and bushy-tailed—just stayed in a corner "way in back" and looked at me with sad eyes.

So, out of sympathy, I picked her and took her home.

My wife was disgusted. "I wish you'd take the mutt back," she said.

Then Mickey shyly walked up to her and put her wet nose into her hand.

That settled it. From then on Mickey, the mutt, was the queen of the Brandeis home.

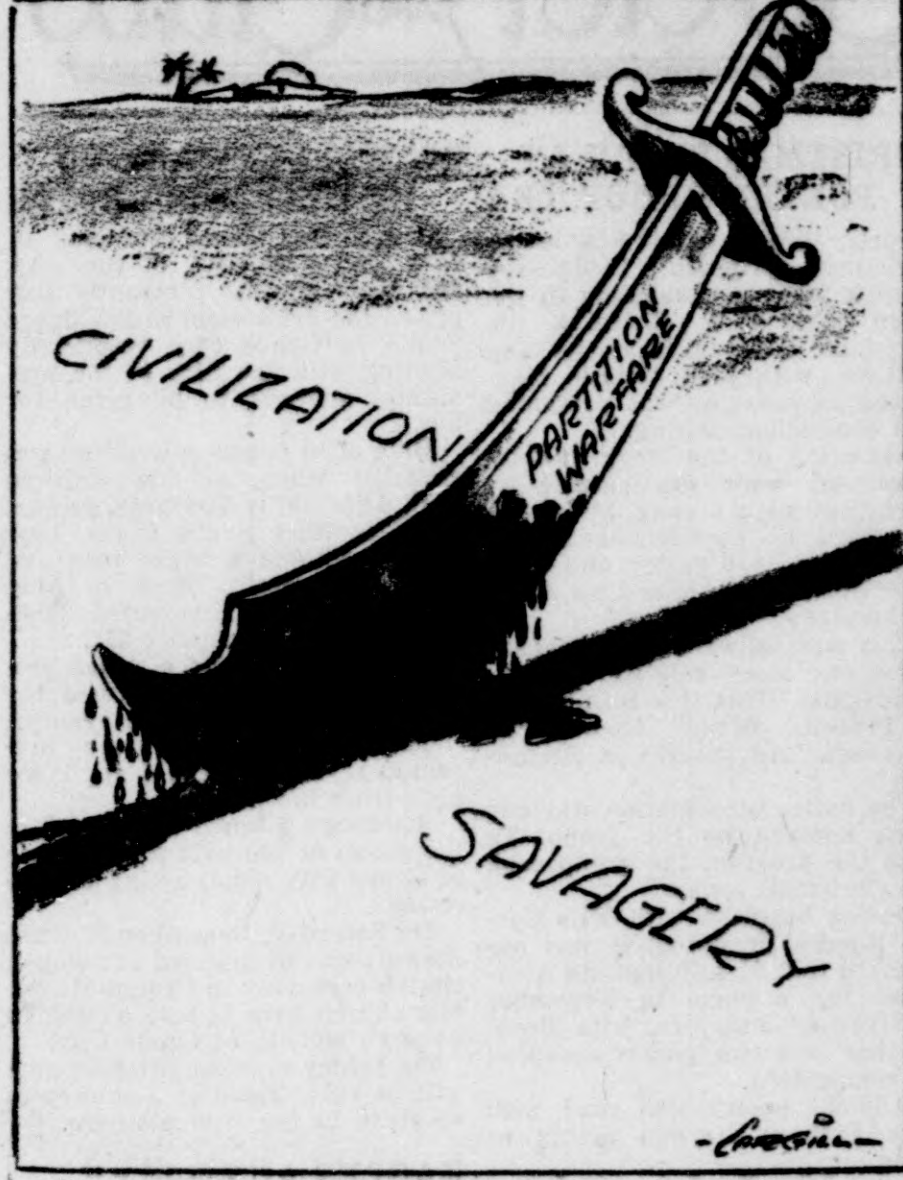

Mickey never had a pedigree. She could never have been entered in a show.

But she was a thoroughbred just the same.

I hope we'll see her again some day.

The earliest known New Year's "greetings" are medals marked with good wishes which date back to the reign of the Roman Emperor Commodus (180-192 A. D.)

New View Of Basic Wealth Needed

TUCSON, Arizona, Dec. 4. — Among the states of the union, Arizona is a lousy adolescent of 35 years. In the current boom it is shooting up with the surprising speed of adolescence.

What is happening here is typical of the phenomenal development of the entire Southwest. More or less unobserved, a population shift of major proportions is going forward. Every day thousands of newcomers are arriving in California, Arizona and New Mexico.

Most of them have come with the wishful hope of finding a permanent place to live in a climate that has been successfully advertised as a "good" one.

The city today has over 100,000 population. The marks of the old frontier are fast disappearing. Tourists in pursuit of health, happiness and scenery are a major source of revenue and employment. Hundreds of dude ranches have come into being, many of them offering the comforts of civilization in a superb natural setting and the opportunity to play cowboy if you are so inclined.

The present boom, with work available for every able-bodied person who wants to work, is one thing. But what would happen in the El Dorado of the Southwest with something less than a boom in a question which responsible citizens are beginning to think about.

Now the roses are all bare; Brown the stems that once were green. Death appears triumphant there, For no sign of life is seen.

And as tenderly we lay Over them a covering deep, None of us can truly say, Is it death or is it sleep.

By the light of faith that burns In the heart and not the brain, We believe when spring returns They will wake to bloom again. (Copyright, 1947, Edgar A. Guest)

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan

The government will pay the expenses of moving Eniwetok residents 150 miles to an uninhabited island. If they know of any other uninhabited islands there are people who will pay their own expenses.

The people are being displaced so that Eniwetok can be used for atom experiments. This was considered simpler than using the uninhabited island and not displacing anybody.

Most islanders were opposed to moving but it is not considered good form to argue with atoms.

Meanwhile there is talk of a new secret weapon. It could be the one ounce bottle into which chemists have crammed the odor of four thousand ounces of onions.

If Uncle Sam ever pulls the cork on that, real tears will be shed for civilization.

I hear it was perfected too late for George Marshall to take to the foreign ministers' conference.

ENGLISH AS A TOOL

Speakers before the National Council of Teachers of English, which has been holding its 37th annual meeting in Chicago, seem to agree that their subject could be better taught. They have been making themselves clear, too, on how to do it.

Now and then, naturally, one or another of those words and phrases dear to the pedagogical profession has cropped up. For instance, one speaker urged teachers of English to "embrace a more naturalistic viewpoint." Another called for better "correlation" of English with "the wide range of interests about which young people speak and write."

But they have managed to get over the main idea, which is that the study of the language ought to be brought closer to present-day needs. As one paper said, "It is obvious that social and business letters still are the most used form of writing among young people and adults, and neither is likely to find its subject matter in ancient Greece or Rome . . ."

That is, the first step is to get students to see English as a useful tool. Once they grasp that fact, they will understand that it is worth while to use it well. Then they will want to develop skill and they will accept the drudgery entailed. In the process they will learn to appreciate the consummate command of the great masters of the written or spoken word.

The approach is sound. Doing is the best way to learn. But there is a danger that courses based on this principle may be too practical. Greece and Rome have given much that should not be lost. Linking English with modern life is all very well, but today is only the day after yesterday. No English teacher—no teacher—can let the oncoming generation forget that.

WHERE THE CURE LIES

The United States is a big country, rich in natural resources. It is also one of the most wasteful countries on earth. American carelessness permits the destruction of enough wealth to feed and supply a lesser nation.

Fire waste is a conspicuous example. Not long ago we suffered a series of terrible hotel fires, with a ghastly loss of life. A short time later the cataclysm at Texas City occurred. Most recently, we have witnessed the enormously destructive forest fires in New England, which completely wiped whole towns from the face of the earth, and turned millions of feet of fine timber into ashes.

These great fires made the headlines. But the bulk of our fire loss is made up of thousands of "little" fires which few people ever hear about. A home or a factory or a barn burns. The loss in each case may be relatively small. But when it is all added up, the total comes to some $600,000,000 a year—and more than ten thousand lives. The indirect money loss is estimated to be two or three times as great as the direct loss. It is measured in diminished industrial and agricultural production, in unemployment, in reduced opportunities, and in the loss of taxable resources.

Every expert knows that we can prevent around 90 per cent of all fires. The President's conference on fire safety, held in Washington last May, laid down a splendid, all-inclusive program for battling the menace on national, state and local levels, and for educating the public. But it cannot succeed unless it is given a full measure of support by all the people. The great majority of fires are the result of individual carelessness and ignorance. And the cure lies with the individual.

WIGS, OF ALL THINGS

News from New York City, where they do everything more goofily, is that wigs—or transformations, to use their new monicker—are back. For the ladies, that is.

The story says that some of the New York females are going in for crew haircuts, which are solely for daytime, and stocking up on transformations for evening wear. Some of the girls, it is alleged, have as many as six of these wigs, of as many different shades. With an assortment like that, it is explained, a New York femme can have two or three of the things at the cleaners and curlers at one time, and still have something to wear on her head in addition to her hat.

Some of the girls—and this is the payoff—have gone for what are known as half chignons, sets of phony curls which can be affixed to one side of the noggin while a hat covers the other side.

Whether this latest manifestation of the New Look will turn up far from Gotham is doubtful. The hair in the wigs has a dead appearance, it is admitted, and the things are no end of bother. But what will prevent the new style from enveloping the heads of the ladies, if anything, is the cost. Two hundred smackers is not an unusual price to pay for these hirsute creations, which are made in Czechoslovakia and Italy.

United Nations should pass an act deposing Atlas and substituting Uncle Sam. Everybody knows who carries the weight of the world on his shoulders.

Comrade Gallikovitch Reports

By PAUL GALLICO

ON BOARD THE 20TH CENTURY LIMITED, Chicago bound:

Ivan Ivanovitch, 38, Red Square, Omst, Tomsk or Pinsk, whichever is convenient, Rossia.

Tovarich: When I left our beautiful free country to do a little spying in America for you know who, I am promising you I would writing you about what life is like in the Capitalistic Dictatorship of the United States, particularly if the news is not good.

Comrade, I am travelling tonight on the railway between two of our targets, New York and Chicago. You will not believe me when I am telling you about the suffering is gung on here by the passengers. For instance, here is announced the train is gung to Chicago at six o'clock. You know what happens at six o'clock? The train is gung. That is a dirty Capitalist trick to keep people from getting anywhere. You know how it would be back home with a six o'clock train gung at six o'clock. It would be empty. Nobody shows up until nine o'clock in order to be on time when it goes at twelve.

Maybe Rossian Ambossodor? Is leading down the platform to the train a red carpet. "Hm." I ask, "Is maybe gung on the train Vishinsky, or the Rossian Ambossodor you putting down the red carpet?"

Am getting reply: "No celebrities on the train. The carpet's for anybody. Just people." Tifoo! Woofing the proletariat.

But on the train is where the suffering really begins. I am going into the dining room. On every table, snow white table cloth, snow white napkins. A plot. Nowhere you can put your hands. Every place, three spoons, three knives, three forks. Who could use so much? Is only room for one person sitting down.

And what they giving these oppressed moujiks to eat? Choosing themselves they got to from over fifty items, including ham, chicken, turkey, duck, beef, lamb, fish, oysters, eggs, bacon, six kinds dessert eight different kinds cheese, everything served on plates. Believe me, Tovarich, you got naws trying to select what to eat, a Capitalistic plot to undermine the sanity of the workers.

But this you won't believe. NO BORSCHT!! It's the class struggle. In America, only the Capitalists have borsch. We do it better at home, eh? Under Stalin, on trains you gat nawsin. So you got no problems like in America. So you don't suffer like they suffering here.

Nobody in Room But You
When you raddy gung to bed on the train you gung crazy from loneliness. Nobody in the room but you. In Rossia, we putting fourteen people in a room this big. Is really terrible privations, because is your own basin in your room, so you never gating to meet anybody. Is getting off the passengers at their destination, half of them are stir crazy.

But the worst torture of the Capitalistic railway system, you are going to say I am kiddink. In every room is fans, electric lights, closets, and fresh air which everybody in Rossia knows is dangerous when travelling. But this is nawsin. From the walls and ceilings comes down a bad for sleeping. Is it a good, honest pink plank like we gat in Rossia? Niet!!! It is a real bad with a mattress, blankets, pillows, pillow cases and white sheets, and everything clean. Who can gating into bad between clean sheets with boots on?

This is the torture. You sitting up all night watching the bad and wishing you are back in Minsk where it is dirty enough so you can be comfortable. Am gating off this train a wreck from this Capitalistic system.

Give my regards to all the boys in the concentration camp.

Yours,

THE UNITED STATES FARMER

The picture presented by the Department of Agriculture to a joint Senate-House Committee of the standard of living prevailing among the American farmers is very strange and unreal. The committee members were told that the "typical farm family" lives in shacks with mice in the kitchen and rats around the barn; that they live in an old house, either in serious disrepair or perhaps unrepairable; that they are without running water, telephone, central heating or a bath tub; that the windows and doors are poorly screened and flies attend every meal, spring and summer—and more of the same. It is a dismal portrayal of the typical American farm family's homestead.

Just take a trip through the great farm belt of the nation—Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Illinois and the other farm states and see how the farmer lives. I have always said that the farmer is the one individual in the American life who is absolutely independent. His barns are full, his cellars are full. He has all the products which the genius of American industrialists provide. In his house modern electric lights, not only electric lights but electric power for his refrigerator, his washing machine and the machines for using electricity in all its advantageous forms. If he is farming on a large scale, he has tractors to operate the great plowing, harrowing and cultivating devices. Even the small farmer has modern machinery for farming on a lesser scale and what is the American farmer producing and what is he getting for his products? The Agriculture Department's own figures give these index numbers of prices received by farmers in various lines of production: Food grains, 1932, 46; 1945, 172. (Continued on Page Five)

From Me To You

By MESEALL

This unsettled weather . . . warm one day and cool the next . . . has a tendency to make ideas fluctuate. By this we mean a diversified train of thought, here, there, everywhere, and we get to thinking about yesterday . . . call it the good old times if you like . . . but some of those good old times were really not good times . . . most of us just didn't know any better.

But thinking back to yesterday we do recall a habit or custom that is no longer possible . . . at least in proportions to what it was a few years back, and we refer of course to that pleasant pastime, bath-tub singing. Someone suggested that an organization be started and we call it the NARBS which would mean National Association for the Restoration of Bath-tub Singing.

It used to be a ritual for the male member of the household to take an hour or two at least once a week to take his tub, and in this hour or so, as we recall it, papa would enter the bathroom, start the tub filling, and then as he dovested himself of clothing, would take time to inspect his face in the mirror, approvingly humming to himself, shadow box for a second, gently jab his right foot into the water, adjust the temperature and then immerse slowly, then after becoming accustomed to the temperature of the water, he would start his opera renditions.

The whole house seemed to vibrate as his voice reached for a long note and the whole household knew that the world was right. Maybe papa didn't know many words to the song he sang, but he could always fill in with something appropriate like "Way Down Upon the Swanee River." "Hey, Where the Hell's the Soap?" . . . yes, those were happy days but today the story is different.

We defy anyone to sing in this modern age while standing under a shower. It's just impossible to sound like anything other than a flounder with hay fever under a shower, and if a tub is still in use the man of the house has his mind occupied with attempting to figure out how to beat the price of beef steak, figuring out his withholding tax, or preparing a talk to give to the Rotary Club, and maybe it's best, with the political situation such as it is, to keep one's mouth shut both in and out of the tub.

Hints On Etiquette

A person should sit up straight at a dinner table, hands in the lap except while eating, feet firmly on the floor. The chair should be placed so that the table is about eight inches from the diner's chest.

Two vehicles traveling at 50 miles per hour, the legal speed limit, approach each other 148 feet per second. Keep this fact in mind when you attempt to pass another car proceeding in the same direction. If two cars are traveling in opposite directions on a three-lane road and attempt to pass two other cars, using the center lane to complete the pass, remember you are closing the distance between your car and the oncoming car at the rate of 148 feet per second.

Launching Safety Drive For Small Plane Operation

By SUZANNE FLICK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 4.—Pennsylvania today became the official testing ground in a nationwide safety campaign by small aircraft operation to reduce an accident rate pegged at one out of eight planes flown.

The campaign was launched by the Pennsylvania Aviation Trades association around a new safety code recommended by air insurance underwriters as the best means of cutting air mishaps that made small scale aviation a bad business risk.

The code was aimed at standardizing flight practices to eliminate careless student training, landing, aircraft care and other regulations.

Receive Grim Warning
An estimated 75 Pennsylvania airfield operators of the association received a grim warning from representatives of three air insurance firms during a meeting at Harrisburg yesterday that the "one-of-eight" 1946 national plane accident rate (excluding commercial air lines) would have to be reversed if the business were to prosper.

The underwriter officials served notice that unless better handling of aircraft was enforced to prevent heavy damage through carelessness, insurance rates would go up or "there will be no air insurance."

Losing Millions
Both airfield owners and insurance firms were losing millions of dollars through damaged craft, they pointed out.

They claimed 40 per cent of air insurers were dissolving because they could not afford underwriting the type of aircraft business where many of the settlements were for damages incurred through failure to properly house or secure airplanes.

They added that many operators with good safety records would be penalized because of the slipshod operations of others and pleaded for a concerted drive to tighten standards.

The National Aviation Trades association, parent of the Pennsylvania agency, voted Pennsylvania for the proving grounds of the campaign because of the state's lead in aeronautics development. President Harry Meixell explained that the code, if a successful operations standard, would be promoted nationwide "in hopes that accidents can be reduced and losses brought down because insurance firms are not exhaustible sources of gold."

Physicians Complete Course On Treatment Diagnosis Of Cancer

Expenses were borne by the State Department of Health. The course will be repeated at the university on January 19 and on April 19.

Lincoln Students Plan For Christmas

A most enthusiastic lot of boys and girls at the Lincoln-Garfield grade school on East Long avenue, are looking forward a few weeks to the Christmas season, when a round of events will take place in the school commemorating the occasion.

The school windows are fast taking on that wintry appearance with snow scenes and yuletide pictures being painted thereon. Plans are being laid for a Christmas play and pageant in which many of the students will participate.

Lincoln made a good showing in stamp sales during the month, when the boys and girls bought $340.90 worth bringing the total purchases to $936.40 for the year. There were 142 pupils buying stamps during the past month.

The first recorded New Year's card in Europe was printed in Germany about 1450, nearly four centuries before an English engraver, William Maw Egley, designed the first Christmas card in 1842.

Huge Value

The department's figures place the present value of farm lands and buildings in the United States at approximately thirty-four billion dollars. This valuation does not seem to represent agriculture as a pauperized industry.

The American farmer does not lack for anything. The majority of the farmers now have their farms paid for, free of mortgages, and if mortgaged at all, a very small one. In his cellar are all the products necessary for his vegetable food; in his smoke house he has hams, bacon and sausage; in his refrigerator he has beef, lamb and meat products; in his chicken coops he has chickens, turkeys and poultry galore, with the attendant eggs of his poultry; in his barns he has cows that give milk and its attendant products; he also has in his buttries the means of producing the milk to butter; he has the grain to feed his cows and his poultry. He has everything necessary for a good living. He also has his automobiles—delivery trucks and passenger cars.

Going back to the horse-and-buggy days, I recall my grandmother's farm in Connecticut of sixty and seventy years ago when I was a boy and a young man. She was left at forty-five years of age with a farm of approximately seventy acres, a hay lot, a grazing field, a wood lot, an orchard and a garden lot, three cows, two horses, a flock of chickens, a pig sty with some pigs in it and fourteen hundred dollars in the bank. Now, a New England farm is so stony, as a rule, that every time they plow, they turn up enough stone to build quite an addition to the stone walls, for there are still more stone walls enclosing New England farms than there are farms surrounded by rail fences.

Lived Very Well

Well, with the assistance of a darky who was efficient, my grandmother lived on that farm until she was ninety-three years old and died fifty-seven years after the death of her husband. She did not have to borrow any money. She lived very well. There was always something in the cellar, in the corn crib, in the smoke house and in the barns. There was a grist mill about one-half mile down the road and she took what little wheat she raised, which was harvested with a cradle and threshed with a flail on the barn floor, and exchanged it for flour. She took other produce to the general store and exchanged it for things she needed—dresses, underwear, shoes and such personal necessities as the occasion demanded. I remember when the cherries were ripe. They would be picked and she would take I. O. U.'s from the store for the cherries at a very good price. She always had a good balance to her credit at this store and what she could not dispose of in that way she sold in the great open market. She had her customers for eggs and butter, which the darky delivered. She had enough cash to enable her to make an occasional journey into the West, where I eventually lived.

When she died she was out of debt, absolutely and had seventeen hundred dollars in the bank. Now, if a New England woman could accomplish that, what excuse is there for farm relief? Most of the farmers applying and obtaining the so-called farm relief were just nondescript, lazy, impotent men and women who knew nothing about how to run a farm or showed any desire to learn how. The farmer, I believe, is the most independent citizen in the United States.

ANNOUNCING BROKEN ENGAGEMENT

Question: Should a girl who has broken her engagement after a betrothal of a year place an announcement to that effect in the newspaper?

Answer: There are some people who think that a notice to that effect should be made; but conservative viewpoint is against this sort of publicity as unnecessary and not in the best of taste. If the engagement is broken after the wedding invitations have been sent out, they should be recalled by the issuance of cards stating that the wedding will not take place. No explanation, however, is necessary. In fact, the least said, the better.

Question: We moved two months ago to a new town and were welcomed immediately by our relatives, with the exception of one young couple who were absent and could not come at the time. Although we have been here all this time, they have not yet visited us. Could it be that we should call on them first?

Answer: They should call on you; but since they have not, why not telephone to them and invite them to see you.

Question: I am to give a bridal shower for a friend. Is it proper to invite her mother and where do I seat her at the table?

Answer: If you are a friend of the family and know the mother of the bride, you might include her; otherwise, it is not at all necessary for you to invite her. But if you wish, you may, of course, do so. The bride-to-be may be seated opposite you at the table and her mother at your right.

Question: What is the correct height at which to hang pictures?

Answer: They should be hung high enough to meet the eyes of a person of average height, that they may form a group with the objects underneath them.

CHANGING METHODS

The girls are busy these days changing the length of their skirts.

The mice harm the cheese and the girls harm the hess. That is the difference between a girl and a mouse.

The girls are charming just the same whether their skirts are long or short. Of course they change their methods at times. Health Departments change methods too. They formerly fumigated a house after it had a contagious disease in it. They found out after much experience that fumigation did not help much so they stopped doing it.

Nowadays fumigation is used only for vermin like rats and mice and bugs.

Some diseases like small pox and yellow fever and diphtheria and typhoid have almost faded out. Perhaps by making use of some old methods and some new ones we may get rid of some others.

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 4.—The 1948 national CIO convention will be held in Portland November 22-26, Stanley W. Earl, secretary-treasurer of the state CIO Council, said today.

Do You Like To BLOW YOUR HORN?

You can make both pedestrians and other motorists angry by simply blowing your horn loud and long at the driver ahead just as the light turns "go." This is particularly annoying if the first car is waiting for pedestrians to get to the curb.

The courteous driver uses his wits instead of his horn. The courteous driver is the careful driver. We will gladly write your automobile insurance if you are a courteous driver.

New Periodical Article Surprises

Three And Half Pages Of Sharp C. I. O. Criticisms
Are In State Publication

OTHER NEWS OF STATE CAPITAL

HARRISBURG, Dec. 4.—(INS)—The appearance of three and a half pages of sharp CIO criticism in the department of labor and industry's latest periodical surprised newsmen receiving the publication... The magazine, started last August, has been top heavy with articles favoring manufacturers... The CIO article was written by Harry Boyer, of Reading, president of the Pennsylvania Industrial Union Council, who started with the comment that "in our judgment the General Assembly passed 11 bills not designed to either improve the economic and social well being of the workers of this commonwealth, or further promote constructively labor-management relationship." The department was not without apologies in presenting the article, for heading it was a paragraph explaining its appearance.

"Being an open forum to any citizen of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania with a message of general interest," it was explained, the magazine "in the interest of free speech" invited Boyer to contribute... The pamphlet further emphasized that "in publishing it herewith, the department of labor and industry points out that the views expressed are those of Mr. Boyer and the CIO"... it mentioned that they were published with "the end in view of promoting healthy public discussion"... Labor and Industry Secretary William H. Chesnut reportedly asked Boyer to contribute "an article" on any subject and was somewhat flabbergasted when the unflattering review of the GOP-dominated legislature's labor program appeared.

The Democratic society of Pennsylvania, the party's new propaganda medium, has been made the sounding board of an inter-party drive to strengthen its forces in vote wealthy Philadelphia... The campaign was led by Richardson Dilworth, Democratic mayoral nominee who took a shellacking at the polls last month... he wants to strip off the loose party fabric held together, he claims, by inter-organization pressure, power, money and start afresh with a nucleus of young crusaders sufficiently interested to work for the good of the party... During a speech at Lancaster where the society was organizing Lancaster, York, Berks and Lebanon counties, Dilworth boldly called for ouster of practically all of the 52 ward chairmen in the Quaker City and many of the 1353 division committeemen.

His formula in a nutshell was "hard work" because there will not be another Franklin D. Roosevelt to swing Democrats easily through the 1948 election... The people still favored a liberal party so long as it proved it was liberal by placing its guidance in the hands of progressive members, he asserted... If U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, got the presidential bid from the Republicans, the party would have a chance, but if Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower or Harold Stassen were chosen, Democrats would have tough sledding, he warned... For that reason, Philadelphia Democrats had to revamp their organization, he claimed.

Anti-Communist Provision To Get Supreme Court Test

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(INS)—A supreme court test seems assured today for the controversial anti-communist provisions of the Taft-Hartley labor law.

The first step toward high court action was taken when Chief Justice Bolitha J. Laws of the District of Columbia U. S. court agreed to a hearing on a national maritime union (CIO) suit against the National Labor Relations Board.

Laws said that the case will be heard as soon as possible and that three judges—as yet unselected—will sit, since a constitutional issue is involved. The case is considered to be the first "real" test of the Taft-Hartley law's validity.

The maritime union is seeking to enjoin the board from enforcing a provision of the law which requires officers of all unions intending to use NLRB machinery to submit affidavits stating they are not communists. It also wants to test the provision that all unions must submit regular financial reports.

Five Hunters Have Died, Seven Others Reported Injured

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 4.—(INS)—

At least five hunters were dead of heart attacks and seven were reported injured in gun accidents in western Pennsylvania in three days of the state's antlered deer season.

As the season went into its fourth day, reports indicated a heavy kill of antlered deer. One hunter claimed to have brought down a wolf, but all "wolves" killed in Pennsylvania recently have turned out to be dogs running wild.

'Mother King' Is Taken By Death

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 4.—(INS)—

Funeral services were being arranged Wednesday for Mrs. Caroline B. King, 30, widely known author, editor and army dietitian known of thousands of soldiers as "Mother King."

A native of Chicago, Mrs. King went to France with a base hospital in 1915, reorganizing dietary care for the wounded.

Her cooking articles appeared in several national magazines and her cook books had wide circulation.

Christmas Season Begins In Bethlehem

Pennsylvania City Will Formally Open Yule Period This Evening

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Dec. 4.—(INS)—The Christmas season gets officially underway tonight in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania—the U. S. namesake of Christ's birthplace in the Holy Land where strife and bloodshed have all but eclipsed thoughts of Christmas.

A pretty girl will flip a switch lighting up a brilliant electric star atop South Mountain, which looks down on the peaceful Pennsylvania City, and the Christmas season will be on.

This year, Bethlehem, Pa., will be a study in contrast compared with the Holy Land.

It is a typical American City—peaceful, bustling with industry and surrounded by fertile farmlands. Although it's original settlers were Moravians, Bethlehem's 78 churches now include Roman and Greek Catholic and Jewish congregations, as well as nearly every Protestant denomination.

But religious persecution was largely responsible for the founding of the town which is now known as the "Christmas City of America."

Latest research shows that white bass die of old age in three years.

Parole Officers Oppose New Ruling

LANCASTER, Pa., Dec. 4.—

(INS)—Pennsylvania parole officers today were overwhelmingly opposed to a change in the rule forbidding them to carry guns on duty.

Dr. G. I. Giardini, State parole board supervisors, reported to 35 eastern Pennsylvania probation officers at Lancaster yesterday that only 23 per cent of the officers favored changing the regulation.

Leon T. Stern, of Philadelphia, representing the Public Charities association, said approximately $1,145,000 would be spent for parole activities this year in Pennsylvania with about two-thirds earmarked for metropolitan areas.

Business In State Increases

New Record Is Reported In State College Survey For New Castle Area

STATE COLLEGE, Dec. 4.—General business in leading areas of Pennsylvania showed a 3 per cent increase from September to October, the monthly business survey of the Pennsylvania State College revealed today.

Although a new record was reported for retail trade, it apparently failed to make the expected seasonal gain. On a physical unit basis, it was below that of a year ago.

Bank deposits, postal receipts, and telephones in service set new records for the month, while new car and truck sales were the best in a decade and indicated that 1947 will be one of the best automobile years on record.

Life insurance sales were the best since 1936, the earliest year for which the Bureau of Business Research has records. Building activity was strong, too, and operations were the greatest since 1940, the earliest year for which the bureau has a complete record.

New Castle Gains

Based on bank debits, factory payrolls, and industrial power sales, and using 1935-39 as 100, the average gain in general business in leading areas over a year ago was 209 percent. Areas showed the percentage of gains indicated over last year:

Allentown, 17; Altoona, 6; Bethlehem, 17; Easton, 24; Erie, 26; Harrisburg, 16; Johnstown, 18; Lancaster, 11; New Castle, 14; Oil City, 8; Philadelphia, 12; Chester, 8; Pittsburgh, 30; Reading, 17; Sharon, 20; Scranton, 5; Wilkes-Barre, 11; Williamsport, 10; and York, 9.

General business in the New Castle industrial area for October broke all records for the month. Based on bank debits, factory payrolls and industrial power sales, and using 1935-1939 as 100, the index of business stood at 306, a gain of 14% over a year ago. From September to October the index declined 2% after seasonal adjustment. New records for the month were made for telephones, bank debits and factory payrolls. New car and truck sales and building operations were the highest in recent years. Factory employment was the best since 1941. Industrial power sales were level with 1946 while employee hours showed an improvement. Mixed changes were noted from September to October.

French Youth Makes Home With Family At Slippery Rock

SLIPPERY ROCK, Dec. 4.—Jacques Gaur, a French lad of 17 years of age has come to make his temporary home with the family of Mr. and Mrs. Don Blyth, of Slippery Rock and while there will study at the State Teachers College.

Don Blyth, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Blyth, was killed on May 27, 1944 in a forest 100 miles east of Paris when a flying fortress crashed on its maiden voyage. The family of Jacques Gaur, has since been caring for the grave of Don, Jr. since his interment.

Hearing of this kindness the Blyths wished to do something about it and asked that Jacques be permitted to come to the U. S. and study here making his home with them. The youth arrived in the states on November 21 and came to the Blyth home on November 28.

He is enrolled in the laboratory school at Slippery Rock State Teachers College and hopes to eventually study navigation and some day become a citizen of the U. S.

Aliquippa Police Testify To Burgess In Truck Looting

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., Dec. 4.—(INS)—The 25-man police force of Aliquippa was still intact today following completion of an investigation by Burgess Louis Fontana to determine whether any officers were guilty of looting a wrecked interstate motor truck last November 21.

Action against the accused officers was delayed until Saturday to permit preparation of formal transcripts. All but one of the 25 borough policemen testified before Fontana and Borough Solicitor Louis Klein.

Plan Conference

Fontana said he would discuss the findings of his investigation with borough council before suspensions of the accused officers are asked. The Burgess declined to say how many were accused. The inquiry followed by investigation by the FBI, which entered the case on the complaint of the trucking firm. Most of the loot, consisting of musical records, exhaust fans, candy and leather shotgun cases, has been recovered.

Pittsburgh Mayor Fines Self $12

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Parking space can be at a premium, even for a mayor—and especially when he issues a couple of summonses to himself. The chauffeur for Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh yesterday parked the mayor's official car not only in a no-parking zone, but also by a fire hydrant. Somebody informed Hizzoner. He immediately ordered the car removed and issued the summonses to himself—one for parking by a fire hydrant, the other for parking in a restricted zone. The fines totaled $12.

Congress Warned
By Iron Age On Steel Allocation

Disclose That Steel Operating Rate
This Week Has Reached New Peacetime Mark

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Iron Age warned today that should Congress capitulate to the government's demand for steel allocation powers, it would carry with it the power to upset the present peacetime steel distribution setup.

The national metalworking weekly pointed out that while the current voluntary quota system in the steel industry has its weak points, it is based on practical applications and administered by those who realize the explosive character of the delicate balance between supply and demand.

It is said that the government's plea for allocation controls in order to eliminate the so-called gray market in steel was unwarranted since 96 per cent of the total steel shipped today was at the so-called legitimate mill prices which average $100 per ton or more under gray market prices.

Iron Age disclosed that the steel operating rate this week reached a new peacetime peak when it advanced 1 1/2 points to 98 percent of capacity.

The Iron Age steel scrap composite price this week declined 33 cents a gross ton to $40.25 per gross ton because of a decline in the Philadelphia market.

Picture Industry Firing Communists

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Presidents of the screen actors, writers and directors guilds told their members today producers will not allow Communists in the motion picture industry.

The action was explained last night to guild presidents who met with a producers policy committee which outlined the management stand on the Communist threat in Hollywood.

Guild representatives were told by the committee to tell their members innocent persons "would not be hurt" and to prevent a general feeling of fear from invading the industry.

 Clenmore P. T. A. met at Clenmore school on Tuesday evening, December 2, and after a short business meeting, a delightful program was enjoyed by the group.

Robert Emerick entertained with tricks of magic with Mrs. N. J. McCluskey giving a very interesting history of Christmas carols.

The program continued with Miss Delores Heinrich favoring the group with two vocal solos, accompanying herself on the piano.

Fred Ulrich sang two numbers, Ave Maria and a group of Christmas carols. Miss Gertrude Ulrich favored with a piano solo.

Refreshments were served to the group by the hostess committee. The next meeting will be Tuesday, January 6.

Woman Rebel Against "Look"

By DON TAIT

LONDON, Dec. 4.—(INS)—British women will allow George Isaacs, Minister of Labor to send them into the textile factories to work.

They likewise docilely submit to John Strachey's edicts on what and how much they will be permitted to eat. But British women are in rebellion at Sir Stafford Cripps' ukase against the new long dresses.

The government's frantic effort to hold the hemline is doomed to failure.

Even the plan of calling in the fashion editors and pointing out to them that the nation's economy couldn't take the rap for the extra material needed, has backfired.

The women's editors are using their limited space to tell British women and inferentially, the government, how it can be done and why it should be done.

Celebrities Wear Mid-calf Hem
 For every picture printed of Princess Elizabeth and Queen Elizabeth wearing the approved fourteen inch hemline, there are a half-dozen celebrities and visitors with the mid-calf hem.

An executive of the wholesale textile association recently took the government to task comparing it to an "old fashioned parent."

He said:

"They are anxious that the public should have garments that are well made of good quality and at a reasonable cost, but by being mean about one or two shillings they have taken away the joy and happiness and have left us with austere garments."

British women are not going to have it.

By hook or by crook the hem will fall and the hips will bulge.

Letters Indicate Rebellion
 Letters to editors are indicative of the rebellion that is underway. They are not questioning the merits of "the new look," all they want to know is "how do we get it."

The answer is a little ingenuity, a little money and a few extra coupons (the latter probably from the black market).

The trend already is well under way. At tea dances and in the lounges of better West End hotels you see the longer full skirted afternoon dresses.

Among the fashionable shoppers on Bond street and Regent street you see smartly suited women with accentuated hips and the new tubular skirt reaching well toward the middle of the calf.

How Radical Will Cars Be In 1948

Is Present Query

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Just how radical will the 1948 model automobiles be?

A survey by the Keystone Automobile Club produces the following results:

Studebaker, Kaiser-Frazer, Packard, and Tucker will offer no appreciable change from the models already being shown. Willys Overland will add a sedan to their line of jeeps.

Around January 1948 General Motors will unveil the Buick, Oldsmobile, and Cadillac with new Pontiacs and Chevrolets following much later. These latter two will probably be dubbed 1949 models.

Chrysler will show the Plymouth, Dodge, DeSoto and Chrysler some time in the spring and Ford promises a "sensational advance" in the low-price field in '48.

But none of the "big three" are giving advance information on what the models will look like. That remains to be seen.

Owners Tighten Stowaway Rules

Contemplated Fines Making Ship Owners Tighten Up Anti-Stowaway Rules

LONDON.—(INS)—British ship-owners are tightening up anti-stowaway precautions following reports that the United States is contemplating legislation to "fine" shipping companies up to one thousand dollars for every stowaway who lands.

The stowaway's road to America and Buenos Aires has been organized into a big-money racket since the end of the war.

Nearly 40 men from Great Britain smuggle themselves into America every month and hundreds are known to get ashore at Buenos Aires and other South American ports.

Racketeers Supply Money
 Racketeers, it is claimed, are supplying stowaways with everything from forged papers to rations and advise suitable times and vessels on which to leave England.

Guards on the luxury liners, particularly the Queen Elizabeth and Queen Mary, are being specially briefed to spot illicit travellers.

Shipping men declare, however, that "determined stowaways" can almost always get aboard.

They added:

"It's fairly easy in the hurry-burry which follows the quick turnaround of a big liner."

Already Proved
 This has already been proved by a German prisoner of war, Martin

Eppich, recently recaptured near New York by a watchful state trooper.

Eppich escaped from a camp in Berkshire, and claimed he swam a mile and a half out to the Queen Mary, climbed a rope and hid five days in a life boat.

Cunard officials, however, declared recently that the man must have been helped aboard the liner.

A Cunard spokesman said:

"The Queen Mary does not sail with ropes dangling over-board. He may, or may not have had money, but there is no doubt that a money racket is being worded in many cases."

The Rhine River normally carries more than half of Switzerland's foreign trade.

Discovery May Start Industry

MAUPIN, Ore.—(INS)—Thar's gold other than tourist cash in them thar hills of Oregon which were spewed from volcanic molten depths.

And new pioneers are operating the world's first underground perlite (volcanic glass) mine with a 1900-foot glass-walled shaft driven into a deposit of a known half-million tons of the stuff.

Perlite, which looks and acts like black glass, is found only where there was rapid extrusion and cooling of acidic magma.

A product of heat, it isn't any use to man until heated again. Then the two to four per cent moisture locked in the rock, "pops" the glass into little glass balls said to be superior to sand as an aggregate for plaster.

Weights One-Seventh Of Sand
 Perlite weighs only one-seventh as much as sand — making a difference of nine tons in weight of a seven-room plastered house — and makes the plaster flexible and less subject to cracking.

A nail driven in leaves only a small hole in the plaster surface. It also provides thermal and acoustic insulation.

Other uses for the "glass popcorn" are being studied, including use as a soil conditioner.

Its big significance to Oregon, is that here is a new industry where none grew before — the ore is mined in Oregon and the final product comes from Oregon.

Stupendous Season Is Seen For Miami, Fla.

By RUTH BRIGHAM
(U. N. Staff Correspondent)

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 4.—Miami had thought of a brand-new reason today for a stupendous season: fear-of-war hysteria.

And the price tags the gold coast city was hanging on her houses, hotels and apartments indicated she's not kidding about this being "one of the biggest yet."

She is just sitting back, waiting, contented to let things be a little late this year.

A big-time hotel owner on the beach summed the situation up this way:

"Year before last was a great season because people were tired of wartime restrictions and they had plenty of money to spend. Last year was less spectacular but good."

Fear-Of-War Hysteria

"This year would be normal, but peace hasn't worked out that way. There's a certain amount of fear-of-war hysteria. Taxes haven't come down; if atomic war comes they know they can't take it with them, so the rich are figuring on one more good fling."

To date there are more houses, apartments and rooms for rent than you can shake a stick at. The only rub is that price tag.

Everything from now is by the season—usually until May first.

A garage efficiency apartment is $1,500 the season, usually payable in advance. That figures about $300 a month for the one room and kitchenette. And don't get the idea it's on the way. It isn't.

A beach home, with two or more bedrooms, can be had for $5,000 and up for the season. Highest priced one we've heard to date rents for $12,000.

Hotel Prices Up

Hotel prices are up 15 per cent over last season. Good beach rooms are usually about $30 to $40—and reservations are coming right along.

As for a room, just a room itself, in a private home—well, they'll stick you, too.

The ad read: "Nice room, single, private home. Share bath. $20 per week."

The harassed room-seeker sought it out and reported a room, slightly larger than two by four, opening off the family's breakfast nook. But the opening had no door.

The owner explained: "Oh, well, we'll put a curtain up for you."

One thing that remains on a par with other cities—meals.

The right hand side of the menu reads just about like it does in New York, Washington and other comparable cities.

Lilienthal Calls For Workable Plan On Atomic Energy

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 4.—(INS)—David E. Lilienthal, atomic energy commission chairman, called today for "nothing less" than an effective and workable plan for international control in the use of atomic energy.

Lilienthal addressed a group of faculty and students at the University of Pennsylvania. He said the cost of the nation's atomic energy program would continue to rise for several years until plant facilities and personnel have reached the desired peak.

Lilienthal pointed to the fact that training programs have been established to coach scientists and technicians for work in the program, but no such school has been set up for administrators.

Medals Ready For State Veterans

World War II Victory And American Defense Medals Will Go To Over Million In State

HARRISBURG, Dec. 4.—(INS)—The Department of Military Affairs today was ready to distribute World War II victory and American defense service medals to more than a million Pennsylvania veterans.

Adjutant General Frank A. Weber announced receipt of an initial supply of 100,000 federally approved military badges and said he would channel them to former service men through county directors of veterans affairs.

Mass Presentations
Local veterans organizations were urged to obtain the necessary number of medals from directors and stage mass presentations in post homes, local armories or public gathering places.

"Mass presentations would give the ex-GI's another measure of recognition at the community level," it was pointed out by Deputy Adjutant General Clyde E. Rankin.

The World War II victory medal was an award for active federal service between Pearl Harbor Day, December 7, 1941 and December 31, 1946.

The American defense service medal was designed for pre-war service between September 8, 1939 and December 7, 1941.

Seek To Boost Coal Production In Japan's Mines

By JOHN RICH

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

TOKYO, Dec. 4.—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's industrial experts began a campaign today to boost Japanese coal production to 40 million tons per year.

They declared this would solve most of Japan's economic ills. Joseph Z. Reday, chief of the industrial section of allied occupation headquarters, charged that a minority of Japanese miners is holding down production.

He warned that henceforth these miners will be cut off from special rations of food and consumer goods unless they work full time.

Key To Recovery

Reday termed coal "the key to Japan's economic well being". He asserted:

"Without it recovery is impossible. With it—in sufficient quantities—other problems relating to recovery can be solved."

The American experts informed Japanese newsmen that supervised "coal teams", traveling aboard special trains, now were touring the major mines on Hokkaido and Kyushu islands.

They are studying at first hand the question of why Japan's current coal production is insufficient.

By next March, Reday disclosed, more than four billion yen will have been allocated for the rehabilitation of Japanese coal mines.

Already, the official said, 5,429 new homes have been built for Japanese coal miners and their families, while 30,653 other homes have been repaired.

Special Rations

Reday said Japanese mine workers are getting a special additional daily ration of 2,243 calories per person as well as additional consumed goods, besides food. He described the special rations as an "incentive" for maximum production.

Henceforth, Reday announced, distribution of special rations will be based on the time worked by each miner. For overtime an additional bonus will be granted, the occupation official said.

He pointed out that 27 million tons of coal will be produced in Japan this year. This output, he said, is only enough to keep the country's basic minimum services operating.

He said the goal of an annual 40 million ton production is less than two-thirds of Japan's pre-war yearly peak.

Reday's assistant, Ormond Friele said the inspection teams have not yet been operating long enough to say definitely whether there is a planned slowdown in Japan's coalfields.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Americans are eating more meat now than they were two months ago when the government called upon them to eat less by observing meatless Tuesday.

This does not necessarily mean, however, that the meatless day campaign is failing to achieve its principal objective—a reduction in the feeding of grain to livestock so that more cereals might be made available for shipment abroad.

MOOSE AUXILIARY TO PACK BASKETS

To the regular meeting of the Moose auxiliary Wednesday evening in the Moose hall, members took a total of 150 cans of food as an ingathering for Christmas baskets to be packed and distributed the day before Christmas. Mrs. Elgin McConnell is chairman of this project.

Members were addressed by a representative from Deshon hospital who told the group that there is never enough current reading material, chiefly magazines, at the hospital to meet the number which could be used. It was decided that each member will be asked to take to the December 11 dinner meeting one copy of the latest edition of any magazine, or a new crossword puzzle or pocket book; these then to be forwarded to Deshon.

To the T. B. seal sale, the auxiliary voted $5. It was announced that on Sunday, December 7, a committee of auxiliary members will act as hostesses at the Moose initiation. Appointed to the committee were Mrs. Charles Jameson, Mrs. Mary Cox, Mrs. Agnes Fisher, Mrs. Lawrence Conti and Mrs. Elgin McConnell.

As a surprise birthday celebration for Mrs. McConnell, she was tendered a shower of hankies and a large birthday cake was the feature of the lunch served at the close of the meeting.

Committee for the turkey dinner December 11 is Mrs. McConnell, Mrs. Conti, Mrs. Lloyd Clark, Mrs. Edwin Fisher and Mrs. James E. Perry.

Next regular meeting night will be December 17 in the form of a chapter night for Moosehaven with Mrs. Everett W. Dangerfield as chairman.

High Schools See Some Hope For Sport Funds In Court Ruling Of '38

by SUZANNE FLICK
(N. E. Staff Correspondent)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 4.—Pennsylvania high schools faced with a ban on the use of school funds for sports could find some hope today in a state supreme court decision acknowledging a need for competitive athletics.

The ban, stemming from a ruling by the state superior court, has sparked a statewide controversy.

Ruling In 1938
A state justice department authority, who declined to be identified, pointed out that the supreme court had ruled in 1938 that "physical education is as much a part of school curricula as are subjects of intellectual study". The superior court opinion was returned last September 30.

The legal authority expressed the personal opinion that school district treasurers possibly could authorize expenditures for sports events in place of athletic associations which generally handle the funds. His opinion was not intended to contradict the ban imposed by the appellate court.

He appeared certain that the superior court decision outlawed use of school funds to pay dues in the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association which has approximately 1000 members.

Remedial Legislation Needed
The controversy was not expected to end until some remedial legislation was enacted by the General Assembly during the session in 1949.

Superior Court Judge John C. Arnold ruled that money derived from use of school property in sports events must be channeled through the district treasury along with tax moneys and limited to expenditures detailed in the school code.

Athletics and other extra-curricular activities such as educational tours, dramas, dances, were not tagged legitimate expenditures in the code.

Supreme Court Ruling
Athletic supplies also were held by the supreme court to be "as necessary for school use as maps, globes and similar objects."

The eight-year-old decision was believed, in effect, an amplification of the school code which lists financing of cafeterias as the most recent deviation from the school statutes.

The extent to which equipment should be purchased for competitive sports events was left to the "cautious discretion" of school boards, in the language of the supreme court.

The decision emphasized that reference should be made to providing the greatest benefit for the greatest number of students.

Arnold's decision caused consternation among officials in all branches of the education field, particularly the PIAA.

They met with Superintendent of Public Instruction Francis B. Haas at the state capitol seeking an unofficial answer to the dilemma. No formal request has been made from the department of public instruction for a justice department opinion, although Deputy Attorney General John Phillips was asked to help find a solution.

Air Forces Will Reinstate War-Time Aviation Cadets Now

Men Whose Ambitions Were Thwarted By Curtailment Of Program Can Take Training

War-time qualified Aviation Cadets whose hopes for pilot training with the Air Force were ended by the curtailment of the Aviation Cadet Program in 1944-45 may be reinstated, Cpl. Pete A. Colia of the local US Army and US Air Force Recruiting Station said today.

The United States Air Force estimates that there are approximately 35,000 young men who had qualified for Aviation Cadet Pilot training during the war who were either awaiting assignment to or actually undergoing flying instruction when the program was curtailed in 1944 and 1945 because of the successful progress of the war.

The acceleration of the Aviation Cadet Pilot training program to a total of 3,000 Aviation Cadets during 1948 will make it possible for the Air Force to fulfill its obligation to many of these men who volunteered during the war. Men in this special category, Cpl. Colia said, may be reinstated merely by passing the required physical examination, if they are unmarried, between the ages of 20 and 26½ years old and have had two or more years of satisfactory college study.

Formerly qualified cadets interested in resuming pilot training should write direct to the Headquarters, United States Air Force, Attention: Aviation Cadet Section, Washington, 25, D. C., for information and instructions.

Any discharged veteran of the first three grades may, providing he is found eligible to perform this essential duty, volunteer and be accepted for duty as escort for Returning World War II Dead. Write or contact the Unit Instructor, 1st Bn, 314th Inf., Post Office Building, Beaver Falls, Pa.

NEW CONSTRUCTION

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 4.—New building construction plans in Philadelphia last month were the greatest for any November since 1937. A report by the Bureau of Building Inspection said 470 permits for 1105 building operations for $7,173,840 were issued.

Lord Colwyn Is Cashiered From British Army

LONDON, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Lord Colwyn, 33-year-old House of Lords member, was cashiered from the British army today after pleading guilty to five charges of "gross indecency" allegedly committed earlier this year in Italy.

Shortly after his courtmartial in London's Chelsea barracks opened, Colwyn entered his plea whereupon the court proceeded to hear testimony from character witnesses.

His Lordship's wife told the court she was prepared to take her husband back home. They have two children. A psychiatrist testified concerning abnormality precipitated by lengthy absences from one's family while in military service. Questioning by defense counsel then sought to establish that a prison sentence would be most harmful, and would aggravate any such condition.

Russia Seeking Weakened Europe

Soviets, Attacked Three Times From West, Want To Subjugate Europeans

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Allen W. Dulles, president of the Council of Foreign Relations, declared Wednesday that Russia wants to see Europe weakened because she has been invaded three times from the west. Dulles gave that explanation of basis Russian policy in an address at the opening session in New York of the Congress of American Industry sponsored by the National Association of Manufacturers. He said: "Soviet Russia is not counting on the success of its system but is gambling on the failure of ours. If we can make this challenge clearly understood by free people here and elsewhere there should be no doubt as to the answer." Dulles said the issue between the United States and Russia was drawn last summer when Russia and her satellites made the "fateful decision" not to help restore Europe's economy.

SYDNEY, Dec. 4.—Wool sold in Australia in the four months July through October topped 1946 figures by a large margin, but United States purchases continued limited.

First Class Mail Safest Route For Holiday Cards

Postmaster William R. Hanna today emphasized that your cheerful Christmas greetings won't come to grief in the Dead Letter Office this year if your Christmas cards are sent by first class mail, which entitles them to both forwarding and directory service. "Each year we have to destroy a large number of beautiful Christmas cards because they are incorrectly addressed and carry only third class postage," the postmaster said. "We are sorry to do it, because we know each of these cards is intended to convey Christmas wishes to a special friend, who will be disappointed and puzzled at not receiving a card."

Postal Regulations, of course, are the explanation. They do not require that more than one effort be made to deliver third class mail because it is being carried at a lower postal rate. So if the address is wrong and there's only a 1 1/2 cent stamp on the envelope, your carefully-selected Christmas card is carried back to the post office and dumped unceremoniously into the dead letter bins. Undeliverable third class mail is not returned to the sender, so you never know whether some of your Christmas cards go askew—and whether that's the reason Aunt Lilly suddenly stopped writing to you after last Christmas.

Only Method The postmaster pointed out that only first class mail may be forwarded from one address to another. Cards bearing a 3-cent stamp are also entitled to "direction service," which means that skilled post office clerks will seek to trace down addressees who have moved since you made out your Christmas card list last year. These clerks also try to figure out whether you mean "Elm street" when you addressed a card to a non-existent number on "Oak avenue," and they are experts at deciphering obscured or almost-illegible handwriting. "Only cards that are sent first class may be sealed," the postmaster said. "You are permitted to sign your name on a card sent third class, but if you decide to write a few cheery lines to an old friend or tuck in a little social note, be sure to put a 3-cent stamp on the envelope."

Every year some cards also are returned to senders because the stamps fell off en route, he reported. "Don't just give stamps a lick and a pet," he requested. "Affix them firmly."

The postmaster asked that all Christmas cards and packages for out-of-state delivery be in the mails by December 10, and that local cards be mailed by December 15.

KEYSTONE SITE LISTED MEADVILLE, Pa., Dec. 4.—The Erie Railroad lists the big Keystone Ordnance Works as one of six industrial sites available along the Erie system in New York, New Jersey, Ohio and Pennsylvania. The half dozen sites were listed for the Erie by the office of real property disposal of the War Assets Administration.

Young Girl Friend Of Bank Robber Is Given New Chance

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Natalie Pierce, of Bear, Del., 15-year-old sweetheart of a bank robber, Wednesday was given "one more chance" to behave by Federal Judge James P. McGranery. Miss Pierce was the "girl friend" of Norman Lee Rechuba, 25, of Lewisville, Pa., who with another man held up a West Grove bank last October 9 and escaped with $8,300 after wounding a postal clerk. Rechuba and the girl, charged with giving her father's shotgun to Rechuba for the holdup, were arrested several weeks after the robbery in Tucson, Ariz. Judge McGranery committed Natalie to the custody of a married sister, the mother of four children, for five years. The sister asked that her name be withheld. The jurist told Miss Pierce that he would modify the "sentence" if she falls in love with a "decent fellow" and wants to get married before the five years are up.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 4.—Ace Producer Jerry Wald had his say today on what he believes is the greatest fault of current Hollywood production. "In too many pictures today there is too much cream puff crust and not enough inside," he said. "A picture to be good has to have one of two things—vitality or charm. If it doesn't have one or the other, you might as well throw it out the window." Jerry is a gent who knows whereof he speaks. He had to talk Joan Crawford into making "Mildred Pierce," a smash hit which won her the Academy Award. She didn't think the part was right for her, but Jerry knew best. He's been in the midst of producing three Warner pictures all at once, "The Adventures of Don Juan," with Errol Flynn, "Johnny Belinda" with Jane Wyman and Lew Ayres, and "To the Victor," with Dennis Morgan. As if this record simultaneous output wasn't enough, he also has been preparing to go into production next week with "Key Largo," again co-starring Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall. Jerry explained: "You can tell by reading a script whether it's going to make a good picture. "If it doesn't hold your interest all the way, you'd better forget it. "Then there is another problem today which didn't exist some years ago when I was a writer. "Need Romantic Team "A producer would come into my office and he'd want a script. Sometimes I'd give it to him in ten days. The picture would be out in the theatres two months later.

"In those days a writer knew when he was going to see his work. "Nowadays a picture may not be shown in the theatres for two years after it's made. That is bound to have an effect on the writers. "I'll tell you another thing we need—a romantic team of the type of Greta Garbo and the late John Gilbert. They really had what it takes. We have nothing comparable today."

AGED MAN MISSING GREENSBURG, Pa., Dec. 4.—(INS)—Pennsylvania State Police at Greensburg today were looking for a 72-year-old man who disappeared from his home in nearby Luxor last Saturday. The man John Shevak, when last seen was wearing a black leather cap and grey clothes. Young mallard ducks can swim a third of a mile as soon as they leave the nest.

House To Begin Consideration Of Stopgap Aid Bill

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—President Truman's emergency European aid program goes before the House today amidst efforts by opponents to marshal strength behind a move to cut another 100 million dollars or more from relief funds.

The House shunted aside the Senate bill with its 597 million dollars in winter relief from France, Italy and Austria.

Instead, the lower chamber will consider a measure drawn up by the foreign affairs committee which reduced European aid by sixty-seven million dollars while adding sixty million for China.

Heading Move
The move to reduce the funds still further is expected to be led by three foreign affairs committee members: Smith (R) Wis., who is slated to offer an amendment to reduce the amount; Chipfield (R) Ill., and Jonkman (R) Mich. Chipfield sponsored in committee a reduction of 100 million dollars in European relief which carried by a vote of 10 to 9, but was subsequently reversed.

An amendment also will be offered to restore the full amount, bringing the total to 657 million dollars including aid for China. After the final vote is taken, probably Monday or Tuesday, both the House and Senate bills will be sent to a joint conference committee where a compromise will be worked out.

There will be 13 hours of general debate on the legislation, with the House convening at 10 a. m. tomorrow, two hours earlier than usual, in an effort to complete the discussion by nightfall. Today's session begins at 11 a. m.

Plan Autopsy On Body Of Woman Who Grieved Over Act By Her Husband

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 4.—(INS)—An autopsy was slated today into the death of Mrs. Celeste Millarg, 22, who collapsed and died five hours after her husband, Rudolph, an American Legion official, was held without bail on arson charges. Mrs. Millarg, who had given birth to a son two months ago, went to her parents' home after the hearing and sat quietly for five hours, apparently grieving, police said. She collapsed suddenly and was pronounced dead by Dr. W. F. Danehower.

Strait Too Great
The cause of her death was not announced officially pending the autopsy, but police said apparently "the strain of the arrest and the hearing were too much for her."

Millarg, 24, who lives in Merchantville, N. J., was accused of setting three fires at the American Legion's Philadelphia county council headquarters. One of the blazes destroyed $20,000 worth of gifts which were to have been distributed to veterans' hospitals at Christmas time.

Plan Mental Test
Fire Marshal George Gallagher said Millarg, publicity director for the Legion in Pennsylvania, admitted setting the fires. Gallagher quoted him as saying he suffered "blackouts" resulting from an attack of spinal meningitis, which led to his discharge from the army.

Millarg, who was also director of the county councils "return of the war dead" program, was held without bail and ordered to undergo mental and medical examinations.

To Be Named President Of National Association At New York Convention

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Dec. 4.—The United States Potters' Association, composed of general ware manufacturers, completed arrangements Wednesday for its annual two-day convention, opening December 9 at the Astor Hotel in New York.

Sugar Stamps Are Worrying Woman

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Dec. 4.—The conscience of at least one Beaver Valley woman apparently still is throbbing long after the death of the OPA.

"I just wanted to write and tell you I had a boy that went into the army, and I used his sugar stamps," she wrote Leo H. Akers, former area OPA head.

"I understand I was supposed to send them in, but I want you to forgive me as I wouldn't want a sugar stamp to keep me out of Heaven."

"If you would be so kind as to forgive me, drop me a card."

She got the card.

ONE MAN PICKET LINE
WEST CHESTER, Pa., Dec. 4.—Pete De Blais, 30, formed a one-man picket line in front of a cigar store.

He carried a sign, mounted on a broom, which bore the names of three men and stated:

"They are running a horse betting place. Close them."

Moonshiners Are Disappearing Fast

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(INS)—The Bureau of Internal Revenue reported today that the moonshiner is beginning to disappear—at least from the revenuers.

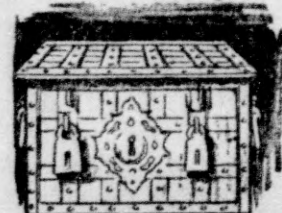

Whether the illicit distiller is gradually going out of business or just finding better hiding places, the bureau won't hazard a guess. But the revenuers say that between July and October, the number of persons arrested for producing home-made intoxicants was only about one-fourth the 1939 level.

One theory advanced to account for the disappearing moonshiner is that because of increased incomes, the nation's thirsty are better able to afford the higher prices of legitimate brands at authorized dealers.

(By International News Service)
Western Pennsylvanians were in for at least several days of moderately cold weather, federal meteorologists reported today.

Temperatures were not expected to drop much below freezing, but will hover around the low 30's and high 20's throughout the western area at least over the weekend, the weather bureau reported.

Rain or snow was forecast for tonight and tomorrow in the western half of the state.

Restaurant Tieup Continues Today

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Efforts of a rebel group to end an 11-day strike in the eight restaurants of the Rodgers Dairy Store chain in Pittsburgh failed today.

Employees of the restaurants, all members of Local 237, AFL Hotel and Restaurant Employees Alliance, voted 58-12 to continue demands for a 15 cent hourly wage increase.

Meanwhile, the ten restaurants of the Brass Rail chain remained closed by a strike of the same union.

Peace Treaty Aims Of Japanese Given

'Secret' Document Comes To Light With Interesting Facts Revealed

TOKYO, Dec. 4.—(INS)—The return of the Soviet-held Kurile Islands to Japanese ownership or control and the immediate restoration of Japan's sovereign independence were among peace treaty aims set forth in a remarkable "secret" document that came to light today. Japan's post-war leaders, it was disclosed, are resigned to the cession of strategic Okinawa Island to the United States, but otherwise hope to yield as little as possible to the Allies by way of overseas territorial concessions.

The memorandum, outlining 18 objectives Japan aspires to attain through the forthcoming peace pact, was made available to Allied sources when a suspiciously large number of Japanese government "leaks" suddenly opened up.

The document was written ostensibly by foreign office bureaucrats who collectively comprise one of the strongest political factors in Japan through continuity of office. They also have close ties with political "purges" and other Japanese whose behind-the-scenes power constitutes Japan's "hidden government."

By GEORGE MOISE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Maj. Gen. James M. Gavin, famed leader of the 82nd Airborne Division, stated flatly that victory in no future war could be won without mass air transportation of tanks.

At the same time Gavin, in an article copyrighted by the U. S. Infantry Association but appearing in the Armored Cavalry Journal relegated heavy tanks to history, along with Hannibal's elephants. He declared:

"The place for the heavy tank is in the Smithsonian Institution." Gavin asserted that armored cavalry, like horse cavalry, was most effective in the enemy's rear, and that the way to place it there was through air transportation. He said:

Play Decisive Role

"Possessing good cross-country mobility, and gunned to destroy any earthen vehicle, the tank will play the decisive role in the coming battles for the airheads. Armored reconnaissance vehicles will be equally important in a tactical role."

Gavin, a thoroughgoing infantryman, emphasized the need for airborne armored and possibly even horse cavalry in any coming war. He asserted that "successful airborne combat requires the qualities of mind and combat leadership traditionally attributed to cavalry."

"Boldness, aggressiveness, flexibility of mind and mental as well as physical courage are all essential to the successful conduct of airborne combat."

Gavin admitted the impracticability of transporting giant tanks in tremendous large airplanes capable of landing on only a few immense fields.

His Prediction

He predicted rather the development of light, highly mobile and heavily gunned tanks, capable of destroying the heaviest armor. The airborne general contended this was possible with newly developed recoilless weapons and "shaped charges"—high-explosive projectiles that penetrate armor through tremendous heat and pressure developed by the shape of the explosive charge.

These light vehicles, Gavin declared, could be transported in ordinary large aircraft capable of lifting perhaps ten tons. He admitted his proposal for a tank this light would meet heavy resistance because "every change is opposed by many of those who won the last war for they are convinced their way was and still is the best."

Gavin said: "Implicit and unreasoning reliance on the weapons that have won past encounters is suicidal." He predicted that light, fast tanks with heavy firepower would prove superior to heavy tanks just as David's sling defeated Goliath's armor and the English bowmen slaughtered the massed armor of France's chivalry at Crecy and Agincourt.

Gavin urged development of airborne tanks as soon as possible, because, he said: "The final ground armies that won the last war are not good enough to win the next."

Britain's Santa Claus Has 'Dollar' Troubles

LONDON, Dec. 4.—(INS)—British toy makers will be filling overseas stockings this year and there will be few toys for British children.

Local youngsters will have what is left over from export and will learn to their displeasure that even Santa Claus is having "dollar" troubles.

With the accent on export, toy makers must concentrate on overseas markets.

Most of the dolls, mechanical toys, train sets and woolly animals are earmarked for customers in the United States, the Dominions and the Middle East.

One of the largest firms of toy manufacturers said recently: "We must concentrate on the export market. As a trade we are only allowed a materials quota two-thirds of our 1939 production."

Limited Amount of Toys
At present, there is a good range of toys in British shops, but once they are gone they are not likely to be replaced.

Many parents are wisely buying toys now for Christmas. Prices are about the same as last year, which means roughly three to five times the pre-war prices.

Although some first-class toys are available, the majority of the toys are "utility" in quality and workmanship.

Because of the paper shortage there likewise will be few children's books.

Greyhound Lines

Will Install Nine New Buses In Area

Bus patrons traveling the Pittsburgh, New Castle, Youngstown and Cleveland lines of the Greyhound Bus company will ride on new buses early in January if present plans of the company are carried out.

The company has on order 36 new buses and nine of these to be delivered early in January will be placed in operation on the Pittsburgh to Cleveland run which passes through New Castle. The old buses in many instances have been in use for eight or nine years and are hard to service.

A new type of transit bus will be installed on the Youngstown-Warren line. It was reported by A. E. Fullerton, president of the company.

COFFEE MAKING SUGGESTIONS

For coffee at its best, keep your coffee-maker clean. Glass bowls of coffee makers should be handled with as much care as you would give any other glassware.

Wash your coffee maker after each use with warm, soapy water, then rinse it well. Leave it un-assembled between times so the air may circulate inside the bowls. If you use a cloth filter, keep it clean by washing in hot, clear water (no soap) without soap and replace it when it becomes very stained.

Glass bowls are heat resistant, of course, but sudden changes of temperature may crack them so don't put hot water in a cold bowl—or cold water in a hot bowl.

Don't let the lower bowl boil dry. Before you put it on the stove, be sure it is dry on the outside. When fitting the upper and lower bowls together, do not use force. They are designed to fit together well without much pressure.

Keep the coffee maker's electric stove clean by wiping it with a damp cloth—never put it in water. If the coffee should boil over, wait till the bowl cools before wiping it off or it may crack. Be sure to disconnect the cord while doing this.

SAVE BREAD NOW FOR THE HUNGRY

Every homemaker can help feed hungry Europeans and cut her own food costs by making a real attempt to conserve food in her own home. Bread, more the staff of life to those in foreign countries now than to us in our land, is one of the most important items on the conservation list. In this country, where diets are more varied, bread is often wasted.

Here are some ways to have bread:

Put no more bread on the table than the family eats at a meal. Encourage members of the family to eat all they take.

If rolls or bread dry out only slightly, put in a brown paper bag, spring the bag with water and heat in the oven to freshen.

If the bread is too dry for this treatment, toast it and serve for breakfast or as croutons with soup. Dry rolls, split, buttered and sprinkled with sugar and cinnamon, and toasted make good snacks with afternoon tea or coffee. Keep them in a cookie jar.

Keep bread in a clean, dry bread box. Dry bread in the bread box absorbs moisture from fresh bread. So keep the dry bread in a separate can or sack. When you have time, grind it up and store crumbs in a jar. Use them for topping casserole dishes, and for coating croquettes or fish or breaded veal.

If you have much dry bread on hand use it in bread dressing to serve with roast fowl or roast pork. Stuff pork chops, heart, shoulder of lamb or flank steak.

Bread pudding, dressed up with raisins or other fruit, or served with jelly is another way to use bread.

Petrified Forest Has Upright Trees

BUFFALO, Wyo. — (INS)—A noted geologist declared recently a petrified forest standing east of Buffalo is probably unique in the United States.

James D. Bump, director of the museum at South Dakota School of Mines, said that the forest is rare because the petrified trees are upright and still have their roots.

Professor Bump told a group of Buffalo residents:

"I believe you have something. It seems strange to me that the area has not been 'discovered' and displayed commercially before now."

The forest, 10 miles east of Buffalo, has dozens of trees in a standing position, including one exceptional specimen over 10 feet high and about five feet in diameter.

Might Be Ancient Sequoias

Bump suggested that the trees may have been ancient sequoias, but that the specimens could be accurately typed by a paleobotanist, a plant specialist.

The director said that the red shale hills in the district are remnants of a vast burned-out lignite field dating back millions of years.

As the trees were covered over, a solution trickled down through the crevasses and each cell in the wood was replaced by a solution of minerals which turned to stone.

Motor injuries and fatalities occur at the rate of three a minute, or 180 every hour of the day.

Extends Thanks For Kind Deed Offered Seventy Years Ago

CONSHOHOCKEN, Pa., Nov. 25.

(INS)—Back in 1877, Calvary Episcopal church sent a box of clothing to Rev. George Gibson, Episcopal missionary in a remote part of Wisconsin who was having a hard time making ends meet with a wife and three children.

Recently, George Gibson, 79, son of the Wisconsin missionary, rang the doorbell of the Calvary Episcopal rectory.

"After all these years," he said, "I want to say a hearty thank you to Calvary church."

Gibson now is a successful paper manufacturer in Chicago.

Records from India indicate that cotton was used there as early as 3,000 years before Christ.

By SAM FOGG
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—A House Un-American Activities Subcommittee has swung into action to write legislation curbing U. S. Communists and fellow travelers for congressional consideration early next year.

Rep. Nixon (R) Calif., recently named chairman of the legislative subcommittee, predicted that measures aimed at "secret" Communist activities in this country will be presented and passed when Congress returns in its regular session in January.

Drafting Bill

Nixon called his group into executive session to begin the task of drafting a bill which he said will be aimed at effectively hamstringing activities of the U. S. Communist party and its fronts. The freshman California congressman announced:

"We believe that Congress during the next session—when it will be voting on large sums to stop Communism in Europe—also should consider and act upon legislation that will properly check the Communist menace in the United States."

He asserted that committee investigation have exposed enough Communists to justify restrictive legislation but declared himself against "outlawing" the part on grounds it merely would drive the Communists underground. Outlining the task before the legislative group, Nixon commented:

Difficult Problem

"The committee has the difficult problem of finding legal means which will in some way expose Communists so that they cannot operate secretly and under false colors to accomplish their purpose of setting up a totalitarian government in the United States and also to work against the interests of this country when they conflict with those of Russia and other Communist nations."

Nixon said that proposals for requiring Communist party members to register as agents of a foreign government will be considered but observed that the U. S. party constitution disavows any connections with any other nation.

He reported that he personally is contemplating legislation aimed at both the party and its front organizations. He indicated that curbs may be recommended to prevent front organizations obtaining money and support "under false pretenses" by requiring them to make public, complete statements on their purposes and activities.

Railroads Boost Rate Increases

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(INS)—The nation's railroads Wednesday boosted their demands for freight rate increases from 27 to 30 percent of existing tariffs.

The increase demand, according to the Association of American Railroads, was based on an estimated 164 million, 700 thousand dollar hike in 1948 operating costs due to wage rises and changes in operating rules.

X-RAY PROCESS TO HELP CROPS

TOKYO, Dec. 4.—Two Japanese scientists claimed today they had discovered an X-ray process which could increase a rice crop 40 percent within a few months.

The process was announced by Dr. Shigetaka Shimura of Tokyo Imperial University, who said the scientists exposed rice seedlings to a three-hour X-ray before planting them. They used 10,000 volts and three milliamperes, he said, but they recommended a voltage of about 50,000 for general farm use.

The first known Christmas card was created in England in 1842. It is now preserved in the British Museum in London.

ACCIDENT BILL UP; $50 PER PERSON

It even costs more to have an accident these days.

The National Safety Council says the average cost of accidents has gone up along with eggs and two-pants suits to nearly $50 for every man, woman and child in the United States, as compared with about $37 in pre-war days.

Thus the nation's total accident bill added up to nearly $6,500,000,000 last year and costs are still going up.

The early Persians said "Happy New Year" by giving colored eggs, much as we now send gay New Year's greetings.

Four Youths Are Questioned About Taking Of $5,000

Four Massachusetts Boys Help Selves To Money Found In Open Safe In Barn

MALDEN, Mass., Dec. 4.—(INS)—Police were amazed today at the story book tale unfolded by four youths who allegedly told of taking more than $5,000 from an open safe in a barn over a three-week period in which they lived a play-boy existence.

Officers said the boys ranged in age from 13 to 16. They were picked up at their homes, according to detectives, who said about $2,000 of the cash was missing.

Police were unable to determine how much of the cash was spent and how much had been hidden away.

Another $4,000 was left untouched in the safe in the rear of a Pearl street laundry, owned by Siarr Hall. According to police the safe was not tampered with, that the boys while prowling around found it unlocked.

Aided Romance
Police said the boys made their discovery in mid-November and that since then they have satisfied not only their own desires but have aided other neighborhood youths. According to police the romance of a 19-year-old friend of the boys was furthered by funds from the safe.

He was given $200, police said, to buy an engagement ring.

Downfall of the quartet, according to police, came when one of the four turned to gambling and won another $400. His parents kept the money for him after he told of winning it in a raffle. Angered, authorities said, the youth telephoned police to come to the house and protect him and his money.

Under questioning, police said, he confessed and implicated the other boys.

The break in the case came as police were seeking a gang of experienced safe crackers in connection with the disappearance of the money.

Vanilla Rates As Top Flavor In Ice Cream

American Soda Fountain Patrons Seem To Prefer Vanilla Over All Others

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 4.—(INS)—Some 50 per cent of America's ice cream eaters prefer vanilla according to an article by Alice J. Mullen in a recent issue of "Domestic Commerce."

Chocolate and strawberry rank next in popularity, says Miss Mullen, who has written an extensive study of this billion dollar industry.

Last year, Americans put away an average of 21 quarts each for a grand national consumption of three billion quarts.

Wholesale ice cream manufacturing started in 1851 with Washington and Baltimore claiming the distinction. Today it is a year-around industry carried on by more than 14,000 concerns.

About 70 per cent of the production is consumed during the warm weather.

Cone A Favorite
The ice cream cone, a perennial favorite with young and old alike, is only 43 years old. It was first introduced at the St. Louis World's Fair in 1904.

Another popular variety, the Eskimo pie, first appeared on the scene in 1922. Since that time, ice cream bars coated and dipped in chocolate and nuts have been standard members of the ice cream family.

Basic ingredients include milk, sweeteners, sometimes eggs, a small amount of an edible stabilizer like food gelatin, and the particular flavor.

Today with sanitary machinery, mechanical freezers, and speedy transportation, ice cream making has become a part of our industrial life.

Ice cream is still the same taste tantalizer that it was before the advent of the super-modern age.

WILL CLOSE EARLY
HARRISBURG, Dec. 5.—(INS)—The State Liquor Control Board today said its 574 retail outlets would close at 6 p. m. Christmas eve and New Year's eve.

Chairman Fred T. Gelder said the closing hour had been advanced three hours on each occasion to allow store employees to go home early.

One-man stores in rural areas, which ordinarily closed at 7 p. m. were directed by the board to remain open until 9 p. m. December 22, 23, and 30.

The Christmas tree, familiar holiday symbol, was unknown in the United States before the 1840's. The first trees were decorated with colored papers and lighted candles, according to the National Association of Greeting Card Publishers.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Vincent Subosits, 52, of suburban Dormont, died today of internal injuries suffered this morning in an auto-trolley collision in Pittsburgh.

Holly wreaths, gleaming candles, bells, and our other familiar holiday symbols seldom appeared on Christmas greeting cards until the early 1900's. Before that Christmas card designs featured flowers, children, spring and summer scenes, and birds.

Four Youths Are Questioned About Taking Of $5,000

Four Massachusetts Boys Help Selves To Money Found In Open Safe In Barn

MALDEN, Mass., Dec. 4.—(INS)—Police were amazed today at the story book tale unfolded by four youths who allegedly told of taking more than $5,000 from an open safe in a barn over a three-week period in which they lived a play-boy existence.

Officers said the boys ranged in age from 13 to 16. They were picked up at their homes, according to detectives, who said about $2,000 of the cash was missing.

Police were unable to determine how much of the cash was spent and how much had been hidden away.

Another $4,000 was left untouched in the safe in the rear of a Pearl street laundry, owned by Starr Hall. According to police the safe was not tampered with, that the boys while prowling around found it unlocked.

Added Romance
Police said the boys made their discovery in mid-November and that since then they have satisfied not only their own desires but have aided other neighborhood youths. According to police the romance of a 19-year-old friend of the boys was furthered by funds from the safe.

He was given $200, police said, to buy an engagement ring. Downfall of the quartet, according to police, came when one of the four turned to gambling and won another $400. His parents kept the money for him after he told of winning it in a raffle. Angered, authorities said, the youth telephoned police to come to the house and protect him and his money.

Under questioning, police said, he confessed and implicated the other boys.

The break in the case came as police were seeking a gang of experienced safe crackers in connection with the disappearance of the money.

Vanilla Rates As Top Flavor In Ice Cream

American Soda Fountain Patrons Seem To Prefer Vanilla Over All Others

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 4.—(INS)—Some 50 per cent of America's ice cream eaters prefer vanilla according to an article by Alice J. Mullen in a recent issue of "Domestic Commerce."

Chocolate and strawberry rank next in popularity, says Miss Mullen, who has written an extensive study of this billion dollar industry.

Last year, Americans put away an average of 21 quarts each for a grand national consumption of three billion quarts.

Wholesale ice cream manufacturing started in 1851 with Washington and Baltimore claiming the distinction. Today it is a year-around industry carried on by more than 14,000 concerns.

About 70 per cent of the production is consumed during the warm weather.

Cone A Favorite

The ice cream cone, a perennial favorite with young and old alike, is only 43 years old. It was first introduced at the St. Louis World's Fair in 1904.

Another popular variety, the Eskimo pie, first appeared on the scene in 1922. Since that time, ice cream bars coated and dipped in chocolate and nuts have been standard members of the ice cream family.

Basic ingredients include milk, sweeteners, sometimes eggs, a small amount of an edible stabilizer like food gelatin, and the particular flavor.

Today with sanitary machinery, mechanical freezers, and speedy transportation, ice cream making has become a part of our industrial life.

Ice cream is still the same taste tantalizer that it was before the advent of the super-modern age.

WILL CLOSE EARLY

HARRISBURG, Dec. 5.—(INS)—The State Liquor Control Board today said its 574 retail outlets would close at 6 p. m. Christmas eve and New Year's eve.

Chairman Fred T. Gelder said the closing hour had been advanced three hours on each occasion to allow store employees to go home early.

One-man stores in rural areas, which ordinarily closed at 7 p. m. were directed by the board to remain open until 9 p. m. December 22, 23, and 30.

The Christmas tree, familiar holiday symbol, was unknown in the United States before the 1840's. The first trees were decorated with colored papers and lighted candles, according to the National Association of Greeting Card Publishers.

INJURIES PROVE FATAL

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Vincent Subotis, 52, of suburban Dormont, died today of internal injuries suffered this morning in an auto-trolley collision in Pittsburgh.

Holly wreaths, gleaming candles, bells, and our other familiar holiday symbols seldom appeared on Christmas greeting cards until the early 1900's. Before that, Christmas card designs featured flowers, children, spring and summer scenes, and birds.

Christmas cards make up less than half of all the greeting cards sent annually, according to publishers. More than half the total consists of Birthday, Anniversary and Get Well cards, and cards for Valentine's Day, Easter, Mother's Day and Father's Day.

Suggest Cut In Tax Exemption On Disability Pay

By JOHN DRUCKENBROD

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The Treasury Department suggested today that the tax exemption on disability retirement pay of Army and Navy personnel be reduced to cover only "the degree of disability for purposes of civilian employment."

With a 65-page study on "the income tax treatment of pensions and annuities"—civilians as well as military—the treasury thrust itself into the front lines of the retirement probe spurred by President Truman.

Result Of Probe
The president's scrutiny of military retirement benefits resulted from the Senate probe of ex-Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers who received $550 a month tax free as a result of being retired for "nervous exhaustion" until his pay was cut off recently.

Treasury officials took pains to explain that the tax report was "factual and analytical," containing no "policy recommendations."

The report declared that "inequities appear to exist" in exempting military disability retirement pay from taxation, while including most civilian disability retirement benefits and non-disability retirement pay of the armed forces.

No Significant Disability
In this connection, the report observed that often service disability retirements are handed out when there is no significant disability to hamper civilian employment, creating "substantial tax advantages" for personnel "whose disabilities are relatively small by civilian employment standards."

The department estimated that 87 per cent of all retired servicemen, excluding Navy enlisted men and Navy Reserve personnel, receive disability payments.

Treasury statisticians figured that the general retirement group of regular army personnel, regular and reserve Navy men, and Army and Navy nurses number nearly 68,000 and receive more than 141 and one-half million dollars in the fiscal year of 1947.

In the retired officer group, whose tax payments could attain lucrative proportions, it was estimated that from 6 to 80 per cent are retired on account of disability, including an even higher percentage of Army and Navy nurses.

Changes Suggested
Besides suggesting change of tax rules on service pensions, the study renewed the treasury's proposed inclusion of Social Security and railroad retirement benefits under the general applicable revenue laws. The report continued: "Assuming income payments of 166 billion dollars in calendar 1947, it is estimated that the exclusion from gross income of Social Security benefits results in an annual revenue loss of about twenty-three million. Similarly, the exclusion of railroad retirement pensions is estimated to cost about ten million."

The study predicted that ten years from now, under present rates and conditions, the privilege accorded these benefits will cost the government about 90 million dollars annually.

Gaston Post To Stage Parade On Tuesday Evening

Big Evening In Store As Post Members Are Guests Of 229th Field Artillery

As a prelude to next Tuesday evening's meeting of the Perry S. Gaston post, American Legion, when they will be guests of Headquarters and Service Batteries of the 229th field artillery, there will be a big street parade staged thru the downtown section.

The units will meet at the Legion Home, and headed by the band, members of the 229th and post members will march to Court street, where they will disband and will be taken to the army in 229th's trucks and motor cars. Members of the burial escort, in uniform, will also be in the line of parade.

A fine meeting is indicated at the army, and refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

Reveal New Clues In Fesko Murder

McKEESPORT, Pa., Dec. 4.—(INS)—McKeesport police acknowledged today they had turned up some new leads in the Labor Day slaying of Julia Ann Fesko, 22-year-old McKeesport girl.

Detective Captain Walter Lofstrom, who last week renewed an investigation into the three-months-old mystery, said: "Several people new to the case have come forth with several new leads."

He declined to reveal the source of the tips, or their probable value.
The case has baffled city, county and state police ever since the nude body of Miss Fesko was found along a road in Versailles township, near McKeesport, September 1. She last was seen alive when she left her home the night of August 31 to visit relatives in Johnstown.

George A. Metz Is Now Corporal

WIESBADEN, Germany, Dec. 4.—Corporal George A. Metz, Jr., of Hqs Squadron, US Air Forces in Europe, Wiesbaden, Germany, has recently been promoted to his new rank in behalf of his soldierly accomplishments since arriving in this Theater over nineteen months ago.

As a member of the Occupational Air Forces guarding Germany from the air, Corporal Metz, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Metz of New Castle, Penna., has proven himself as an exemplary member of the New Occupational Force that is re-educating Germany and its youth along democratic lines. This new policy trend is now known as the greatest single democratic movement successfully underway in Germany today.

Since coming to Wiesbaden, Corporal Metz has found the one-time German spa-city not too bad a substitute for stateside with its many Special Service facilities for recreation and education. Incidentally, Wiesbaden is over 2000 years old and is best known for its hot mineral-bath waters, today internationally dubbed as "The Hot Springs of the Old World."

ASK CHANGE

New Demands To Be Made On Signal Corps

By GEORGE MOISE
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Maj. Gen. Spencer B. Akin, the army's chief signal officer, declares that combat communication—including television—must be made compact and portable for air transportation and capable of operation "in any part of the world, inhabited or not."

Akin, writing in the semi-official "Army-Navy Journal," pointed out that the signal corps must be ready to set up world-wide communications on instant notice because "there will be little or no time" to prepare for an emergency.

Speed Is Essential

Akin added that speed also is essential "because of the character, speed and possible destructive effects of present and future weapons."

He called for an integrated civil-military communications system, with army signal facilities added to existing commercial setups. To this end, he said, "the operating and manufacturing companies of the commercial communication industry are cooperating fully in the signal corps affiliated unit program."

Under this program complete or skeleton combat and service units are set up in industry, ready for immediate mobilization in their specialty in time of war.

Akin declared that a wartime signal system must "permit the transmission of a volume of traffic greater than anything previously experienced, over greater distances, with a reliability to or greater than that of commercial systems."

Operated Anywhere

"It must be capable of being installed and operated in any part of the world, inhabited or not, in any climate, in the shortest possible time."

He said that the signal corps is working on compressing equipment for air transport and winterizing it for cold climates.

Another problem faced by the signal corps is a reduction of complexity. Akin said:

"Simplicity in operation and ease of maintenance are important considerations. Radioteletype, radio-telephone, television, facsimile and teletyped data transmissions are part of the requirements that have to be met."

Akin said that the signal corps was cooperating closely with the navy, air force and other parts of the army in order to pool scientific knowledge and reduce duplication.

He added that research and development, in addition to improving existing and known equipment, must concern itself with "electronics, meteorological, sound, light guided missile and photographic fields."

About 75 Per Cent Of State War Dead Will Be Returned

HARRISBURG, Dec. 4.—(INS)—The State Military Affairs Department today disclosed that about 75 per cent of Pennsylvania's dead in World War II will be returned to the United States under the federal repatriation program.

Big Issue For 1948 Campaign

Truman's Request For Sweeping Peace Time Powers To Be Issue

OTHER NEWS OF NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(Special To Central Press)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—President Truman served up the big issue of the 1948 campaign when he asked for sweeping peacetime powers to control the nation's economy.

Political observers in Washington are agreed that the big battle of next year's presidential election will be over Mr. Truman's request and the answer that he gets from the GOP-controlled 80th Congress.

Foreign aid is secondary. There will be swift agreement on almost 600 million dollars' worth of stop-gap assistance for Europe, and some semblance of the Marshall plan will be approved after the regular session begins next January.

However, the battle over rationing and price control will be the big one in the 1948 campaign.

Consensus in Washington is that the President asked for much more power than he possibly could get, and thereby "put the GOP on the spot."

Mr. Truman has jockeyed the Republicans into a position where he can tell the housewives next year that he did his best, and the GOP turned him down. A high Democratic spokesman told this column:

"We are going to let the Republicans call the thing a political issue. That is our strategy. We have them squirming without ourselves mentioning politics. Our position is that we are asking the Republicans to act for the good of the country."

Ration Probables

Prime movers in the administration's 10-point program to beat down the high cost of living believe that the first product to be rationed, should strict controls be reimposed, will be meat.

Also on the probable list are butter and grain products, the latter led, of course, by bread. These are in shortest supply and greatest need, both at home and abroad.

There seems little likelihood that clothing or fuel will go back under rationing and price control. There appears to be enough of both to meet the needs and hold prices within a reasonable limit.

Rent is already under price control, but according to President Truman it is creeping up one per cent a month. Congress will probably accede to the executive's request that rent controls be tightened in whatever control legislation is adopted to beat the March 1 termination of existing law.

However, the fate of rent control is now somewhat dubious in view of the ruling by Judge Paul Jones of the United States district court in Cleveland, that the Housing and Rent Act of 1947 is unconstitutional. An appeal to this ruling is almost certain.

The big if in the whole situation is whether the GOP Congress will authorize renewal of price ceilings and rationing. Political strategists believe the legislators, facing election contests, will have to do something to reduce the high cost of living for their constituents.

Actresses For GIs

The Army, with a straight face, is advertising for 60 actresses to dance and sing for the boys in the Far East. The requests for girls explain that they would work with soldier shows in Japan, the Marianas, the Philippines and Alaska.

Pay is good, the Army says, and food and rooms "inexpensive." One year contracts will be given girls who qualify. The Army prefers performers between 21 and 35 years of age.

Listed inducements did not include date possibilities—which should be lush, if not overwhelming. Also not listed is the pleasant flattery offered a girl when she is the only attractive and untattooed one to appear in an officers' or enlisted men's club.

The world's first Christmas cards with religious designs were published in Belfast, Ireland, in 1875. When mailing Christmas cards, ties them in small packages with all envelopes face up and stamps in the same corner to facilitate handling at the post office.

The most beautiful Christmas cards in the world in the 1890's were those of Louis Prang, a Boston lithographer who employed as many as 20 colors to obtain delicate effects and rich detail.

"The words of a wise man's mouth are gracious."—Ecclesiastes 10:12.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for December 7 is III John, the Memory Verse being Ecclesiastes 10:12. "The Words of a wise man's mouth are gracious.")

John, the beloved disciple, was a very old man (nearly 100 years old, we are told) when he wrote this third epistle, not to the church this time, but a private letter to his "wellbeloved Gaius, whom I love in truth."

In the course of a lifetime people write many types of letters. There are simple, affectionate, gossip letters to close friends and relatives. There are birthday and Christmas letters with best wishes for health and happiness. There are letters written to friends who are ill or have met with loss or misfortune, love letters and thank-you letters for favors or gifts received, and many more. This letter of John's was an affectionate one to commend Gaius for his good work, and expressing a wish that he may "prosper and be in health, even as thy soul prospereth."

It is unusual that one is praised for his goodness and spiritual life and a hope expressed that his physical well-being will match them. It usually is the other way around.

Reports Rejoice John

John says "I rejoiced greatly, when the brethren came and testified of the truth that is in thee, even as thou walkest in it in truth. I have no greater joy than to hear that my children walk in the truth." By his children, of course, John meant the younger people who were carrying on the work of the church, who seemed like his own children.

He next praises Gaius for his hospitality to the members of the church who traveled about preaching. These men were poor like the first apostles. They had no money to spend and had to depend upon the generosity of the members of the church who lived in the towns in which they were to preach. Gaius' house was always open to them, it seems. John writes: "Beloved, thou dost faithfully whatsoever thou dost to the brethren, and to strangers; Which have borne witness of thy charity before the church: whom if thou bring forward on their journey after a godly sort, thou shalt do well: Because that for His name's did practically all the work except bricklaying and blocklaying.

Rev. Mr. Paine said that the new church building would have cost much more if the labor of members had not been donated. Insurance received from the fire loss amounted to only $40,000.

Rev. Mr. Paine looks at callous hands and admits: "I didn't know a thing about carpentry or laying cement before I entered the ministry, but I've had to learn."

He said that he had helped with the actual labor of church building on previous pastorates in Danville, Ill., before coming to the Indianapolis church.

Minister And Flock Build New Church

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—(INS)—Being a minister of the gospel is a good way to learn how to pour cement, according to the experiences of Rev. Thomas Paine, pastor of the West Side Assembly of God Tabernacle in Indianapolis. A new $60,000 church structure now replaces the old building, which was burned a year ago. The new edifice was constructed with the aid of the congregation members, who with their pastor, did practically all the work except bricklaying and blocklaying.

Rev. Mr. Paine looks at callous hands and admits: "I didn't know a thing about carpentry or laying cement before I entered the ministry, but I've had to learn."

He said that he had helped with the actual labor of church building on previous pastorates in Danville, Ill., before coming to the Indianapolis church.

Ask For Details On Coal And Oil

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(INS)—The House Interstate and Foreign Commerce committee agreed today to formally ask Secretary of Commerce Harriman and the office of defense transportation for full information on coal and oil exports and the coal car shortage.

The committee acted on two resolutions of inquiry submitted by Rep. Rogers (R) Mass. The resolutions as approved will be presented to the House for final action.

Earlier an ODT official told the committee that the New England coal shortage is due to a decrease in coal production rather than a transportation shortage.

Arthur Gass, director of the ODT railway division, testified that actual production of coal this year is 60,000 carloads below the 1946 output.

In actual deliveries he said there had been a drop of only 37,442 carloads in 1947. Gass estimated that the New England area would receive about one million tons of coal less in 1947 than in 1946.

New Requirements For Marine Corps

Relax Physical Standards For Entrance; Station Announces New Hours

The following is the new plan of the U. S. Marine Corps, which governs physical requirements of applicants for enlistment in the Marine Corps.

Eyes—Until further notice men with vision as low as 2/20 can enlist, providing the eyes are correctable to 20/20 with glasses.

Teeth—There is no set number of teeth required, but men with badly decayed teeth and infected gums will not be accepted for enlistment. A full plate upper or lower is not disqualifying.

Height—Minimum 60 inches (5 feet). Maximum 78 inches (6 foot-6 inches).

Color Blindness—If a man is color blind, this is not a disqualifying factor.

Age—Age limits are 17 years—29 years.

New rules governing Re-enlistments in the Marines, in reference to ranks, have been received also. A man has up to 2 years to re-enlist and do so with all or part of rank formerly held on discharge. A staff Sgt. can re-enlist at the rank of Sgt. if he does so within 2 years from date of discharge.

Effective immediately, the Marine Corps Recruiting office located in room 211 of the New Castle, Pa., Post Office Building, will open from 6:30 p. m.-9:00 p. m. on Wednesday and Friday of each week, in addition to the regular office hours, of 8:00 a. m.-4:30 p. m. daily, except Saturday and Sunday. Office hours for Saturday are 8:00 a. m.-noon.

Electrical Workers Charge Union Heads With Non-Compliance

Charge Union Heads With Failure To Obtain Contract At Westinghouse In Beaver

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 4.—(INS)—CIO electrical workers today charged top officials of the union with failure to obtain a contract at the Beaver, Pa., plant of Westinghouse Electric Corp., because they refused to sign anti-communist affidavits as required under the Taft-Hartley act.

The charge was hurled by the rank and file anti-communist group in a campaign leaflet for next week's election among Westinghouse workers.

The leaflet charged that James Matles, international director of organizations; Julius Emspak, international secretary-treasurer and Tom Fitzpatrick, president of U-CIO district 6, "either cannot or will not swear they are not communists."

The leaflet further urged: "If they (the officers) are communists, let's leave them out. If they are not communists, let them sign, because the union is in danger."

Emspak was named before the congressional anti-American committee as "Comrade Juniper" of the Communist party, and Fitzpatrick is the progressive slate's candidate for president.

CLEAN STREAM ORDERS
HARRISBURG, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Twenty-one Montgomery county industries allegedly polluting the Schuylkill river were ordered today by the state sanitary water board to blueprint abatement plans.

Five were cited for discharging untreated sewage and were ordered to channel wastes through municipal systems or construct private works.

'REDCAPS' FEE TO BE HIGHER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Over vigorous objections of the "redcaps," the "redcap" fee for the handling passengers' luggage at railroad terminals goes up this week in the East from 10 to 15 cents per bag.

The deadline for Interstate Commerce Commission action to stay the change passed and officials said the commission had decided against interfering with the boost proposed by the terminal companies.

The fixed fee per bag goes to the companies. Since 1940 the "redcaps" have worked for hourly wages, plus any tip the passenger may give above the fixed fee.

the new American minister to Finland.

At the same time, Mr. Truman named Herbert Sidney Bursley, now counselor at the U. S. Embassy at Ankara, Turkey, to be the new American ambassador to Honduras.

Experts Probe Metal Fatigue

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 4—(INS)—A new theory, which may explain why automobile axles, ball and roller bearings and other machine parts suddenly crack and fail, is being tested in Philadelphia after 26 years of research into the cause of this mysterious "fatigue phenomenon" of metals.

The theory, evolved by H. O. Walp, chief metallurgist of SKF Industries, Inc., holds that the breakdown of hard metallic objects stems from a failure in the exceedingly small crystals of steel and other metals. This failure affects them in somewhat the same way that cancer does the cells of the human body.

Cells Break Up
Walp says:
"Just as cancer, originating in the body cells, is one of the principal causes of human death, the breaking up of the basic crystals or 'cells' of hard metals accounts for more failures in modern engineering practice than any other single factor."

He and a team of industrial scientists are now seeking to prove their concept that breakdowns in steel and other hard metals are due to the weakening of the points at which the irregularly shaped crystals of the metals join together. In their efforts to track down the cause of this "industrial cancer," Walp is currently concentrating on the extremely hard steel used in manufacture of high precision bearings.

He uses a battery of 27 testing machines on which dozens of anti-friction bearings are wheeled at varying speeds for test runs that sometimes extend day and night over several years.

The scientists hope their tests may ultimately lead to universal acceptance of their theory of metal fatigue. However, Walp points out that no such fundamental concept has yet gained credence despite hundreds of similar research projects made throughout the world since 1858.

Service Man Is Given Sentence

HARRISBURG, Dec. 4—(INS)—Clarence J. Coover, 21-year-old Harrisburg war veteran, was sentenced today in Federal court at Harrisburg to serve two years in prison for fraudulently obtaining servicemen's readjustment allowances totaling $890 after he went A.W.O.L. following overseas duty.

Judge John W. Murphy also placed the youth on probation for two years following discharge from the Federal correctional institution at Chillicothe, O.

Coover, according to testimony, took the discharge papers from a coat belonging to John E. Gallagher, Philadelphia, found in a Harrisburg hotel.

He received 20 payments of $44 each after applying for benefits under Gallagher's name. Coover was returned to Indiantown Gap Military Reservation after the end of World War II.

Maine Woman Seeking Lost Daughter, 16

Young Girl Missing From Her Home In New England Since August, 1946

Mrs. Mary A. Robbins of Portland, Me., is instituting a nationwide search through the medium of the major daily newspapers of the United States for her 16-year-old daughter, Velva Joy, who has been missing from her home since August 20, 1946.

Mrs. Robbins has utilized private detectives and private publications in her effort to find the missing girl but the search has proved fruitless. The Portland police have also covered the case from every angle but have turned up no clues.

Miss Robbins is 16 years of age and weighs between 120 and 130 pounds. She is about five feet four inches in height, has dark blond hair, blue eyes, freckles and a medium to light complexion.

The missing girl may look older than her age and may be wearing her hair done up or cut short. She has experienced a mild psychological disorder and was under treatment when she left home. She may be a victim of amnesia.

Anyone locating this girl is asked to notify the police department, Portland, Me., via Western Union, collect.

Scientists Seek Oil Off Bahama Islands

LONDON—(INS)—Fifty British scientists, using planes, ships, diving bells, radar and even war-time U-boat detectors are searching for an "oilfield under the sea off the Bahama Islands."

Their flagship is the "Bahamas Explorer," a converted landing craft, from which scientists are lowered to the seabed.

In shallower water, D-day Mulberry Harbors like those used to facilitate the landing of supplies for the invasion, give a solid base for sensitive equipment.

Leading British oil companies are financing the exploration, according to the British newspaper, Sunday Empire News. The quest would have been impossible, however, if the government had not supplied modern devices.

One official of the Anglo-Iranian Oil company reported:
"It is one of the most ambitious under-water feats ever tried."

No Difficulty Sinking Wells
"Once the drilling sites are found there will be no difficulty in sinking wells."

"Hurricanes are a problem but the skill of our scientists can overcome this. Though we can't yet report definite results, we are full of hope."

An official of the Colonial office said that every possible assistance would be accorded these "ocean oilmen."

Neither the scientists or the Colonial office could determine whether any oil wells which were located would be sufficiently valuable enough to warrant elaborate engineering plans.

Bubble Dancers

Return On Coast
SAN FRANCISCO—(INS)—Bubble-dancers again are prevalent on the west coast. The site of the famous Barbary coast once again is turning its attention to the wielders of the bubbles. However, the dancers are not taunting any law enforcers, but are being hunted by scientists. These dancers are—flies.

Dr. Kessel, professor of biology at the University of San Francisco and a research associate at the California Academy of Sciences, discovered the species in his own backyard.

He claims that these are the first flies—which incidentally are males, in opposition to their human imitators—to be found with bubbles. Bubble-Getting Process
The process of getting his bubble is called "emimorpha geneatis melander," no fooling. It starts when the fly desires companionship.

Nine Co-eds On College Debate Squad

City Hall Council Action At Day's Session

Secretary Named In Legal Department; Annexation Ordinance Presented

Mrs. Mary E. Hogan was today named by a councilman as a secretary in the city legal department, filling in a position while one of the attaches has a leave of absence. Her salary was fixed at $125 monthly. Recommendation for her appointment was made by Solicitor R. M. White.

Mrs. Mildred Dale, 1031 Lorain avenue, complained to council that entrance to her property was blocked. It appears Lorain street has not been ordered and is unopened. Council promised to view the situation.

An ordinance was introduced which provides for the annexation of East Hazelcroft avenue and several other lots north, in Neshannock township, which was requested by Attorney J. Clyde Gillilan sometime ago. The measure was referred to committee.

Joseph D. Alexander, property director, turned over $123, he collected from the sale of coats acquired from the O.C.D. The treasurer was authorized to accept the money.

ENTER THEATER OFFICE

Paramount theater attaches were checking today to ascertain if anything was stolen from the office last night. Entrance was made through a window "off the roof". The entry was discovered by the janitor when she reported for work this morning.

Young Woman Is Hurt In Accident On Ellwood Road

When the car she drove upset on the Ellwood City highway, 2 1/2 miles north of Ellwood City, at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday, Louise Pavorito, New Castle, R. D. 1, sustained an injury to her foot which was attended in the Ellwood City hospital, according to State police.

She attempted to take something from her purse, while driving, lost control of the car and it plunged across the road then upset.

BUILDING FRONT DAMAGED
Gwin barber shop front, 370 East Washington street, was damaged last night by an auto, which police investigated. R. Clare Stockman, R. D. 6, said he would pay for the damage.

UPSTAIRS WINDOW BROKEN
John Donofrio, 821 East Lutton street, reported to police he found a window broken upon his return home last night.

The burrowing owl is the only land bird which nests underground.

"ROLLING" HOMES IS U. S. A. FUTURE

PHILADELPHIA. — (INS)—If the Trailer Coach Association can do anything about it, Americans eventually will live in rolling homes.

The association, at its annual meeting in Philadelphia, opened a campaign to make trailer parkers in the nation more healthy and sanitary.

An association spokesman said over a million Americans now live in trailers, but that the number was increasing rapidly.

In a few years, he said, as conditions improve at trailer parks, there should be as many as five million U. S. citizens residing in rolling homes.

Heavy Deer Kill In West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 4.—(INS)—The Conservation Commission reported today that hunters had bagged more than a thousand deer on the second day of West Virginia's six-day deer season.

The day's kill of 1009, together with 1210 for the first day, adds up to within 15 of the 2367 total kills reported in 1945.

Loyalty Review Board Meets To Consider Report

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4—(INS)—The government's Loyalty review board met in closed session today to consider the comprehensive report on subversive groups submitted by Attorney General Clark.

A board spokesman said the report would be made public—perhaps later today—when all government agencies concerned have been notified of its contents.

The documents are said to be in the opinion of the justice department are subversive and affiliation with which would be grounds for dismissal of any federal employee.

The justice department, working in secrecy, has spent several months compiling the report, which will serve in some degree as a standard for discharge of government workers whose loyalty is open to suspicion.

America's Pact Before Senate Next Monday

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
 (U. S. Staff Correspondent)
 WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(INS)—The senate will begin consideration Monday of the Rio De Janeiro pact which joins all the Americas to resist aggression within or without the Western Hemisphere.
 President Truman sent the treaty to the senate today with his "complete and wholehearted approval."
 Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., chairman of the foreign relations committee announced that the senate will take up the treaty Monday.
 He said:
 "There is great value in immediate ratification of this treaty, about which there is no controversy."
 The foreign relations committee unanimously agreed on a report urging immediate action on the treaty.
 Favorable action by the senate will make the United States the third nation to ratify the treaty. Mexico and the Dominican Republic have already deposited their ratifications. The treaty becomes effective when two-thirds of the signers have acted favorably on the historic pact.

Explosive Argument In House Banking Committee Hearing

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(INS)—An explosive argument was touched off in the House Banking committee today when "motives" of members of the president's foreign aid committee were questioned.
 Rep. Smith (4) Ohio, demanded to know whether Hiland Batchelder of Pittsburgh and W. Randolph Burgess of New York represented interests which would "benefit" from the European aid program.
 Smith agreed to strike his questions from the committee record after Democratic members had objected strenuously to his line of interrogation.
 Batchelder is president of the Allegheny-Ludlum Steel Corp., and Burgess is vice chairman of the National City bank.
 The outburst came during Smith's questioning of Secretary of Commerce Harriman, chairman of the Foreign Aid committee which reported to President Truman that the Marshall plan would cost the United States up to 17 billion, 200 million dollars. Harriman asserted:
 "I think it is very unfair to question what conceivable ulterior motives these men could have."

Right Of Nations To Self Defense Enters War Case

TOKYO, Dec. 4.—(INS)—The "right of nations to self defense" was propounded today at the Tokyo war crimes trial as the basis for the defense of Adm. Shimadzu.
 Shimadzu, one of the 25 defendants, was the navy minister who supervised the preparations for an execution of the attack on Pearl Harbor under the general direction of Premier Hideko Tojo.
 In a statement opening Shimadzu's defense before the Allied War Crimes Tribunal, attorney E. Richard Harris declared:
 "It will not be denied that Adm. Shimadzu voted for the war and conscientiously applied himself toward the winning of the war."
 Harris posed this question:
 "If Adm. Shimadzu conscientiously believed that his country was jeopardized, threatened and imperilled through the actions of other powers and that war was the only remedy, can he be branded as a murderer, brigand, pirate or plunderer?"

Shortage Reports In Meat Minimized

ATLANTIC CITY, Dec. 4.—Reports of a serious meat shortage next spring and summer are over-emphasized, Albert Goss, master of the National Grange, said here.
 At a press conference in the Hotel Morton, where the 75th annual meeting of the New Jersey Grange is being held, Goss pointed out that there will be a shortage if we are to "feed light to save grain." However, only a minor adjustment in the demand for meat would end the shortage, he explained.
 He also predicted that the 9,000,000 extra acres of farm production requested by Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson would be met "if we get good weather."
STEER BRINGS $8,800
 CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Claude Millwee's grand champion steer "Big Boy" sold for $8,800 at auction today at the 48th annual international livestock exposition in Chicago.
 The 1,100-pound shorthorn raised by the 18-year-old member of the Future Farmers of America from Fort Cobb, Okla., was sold to the Davidson Meat Co. of Chicago at their bid of $8 a pound.
 Almost every variety of grape is grown in California. Grapes are grown in 48 of the state's 58 counties, in a great 700-mile vineyard stretching from the Mexican border almost to the Oregon state line.
 One-twelfth of the total population of the United States can be seated at the same time in the nation's motion picture theaters, which number more than 20,000.

Four Fugitives Still At Liberty

One Of Five Mental Patients Is Recaptured After Crashing Stolen Plane

JACKSON, Tenn., Dec. 4.—(INS)—One of five mental patients who escaped from the U. S. Medical Center at Springfield, Mo., was held in jail at Jackson today after he crashed in a stolen airplane while attempting a getaway by air. The fugitive, Charles McIntosh, 34, of Dayton, O., was seized at the Jackson airport when officials there became suspicious of his actions. He was held for Federal authorities.

McIntosh had walked away uninjured from the crash scene at Adamsville, Tenn., and said he hitchhiked the 30 miles to the Jackson airport. Authorities believed he was looking for a chance to resume his aerial getaway when arrested.

The four other inmates who fled the prison hospital Monday night were still at liberty. Three of them are believed to have gone into hiding in the Ozark mountains.

McIntosh identified himself in a statement to Jackson officers. Sheriff Tom Lewis said McIntosh told him he had spent his first night of freedom in a corn field only a mile from the Springfield hospital where the men were mental patients while serving Federal sentences.

In his statement the captured inmate admitted he stole the two-seated plane Tuesday morning at Springfield and headed for Dayton, O., but ran out of gasoline and was forced to land near Murray, Ky.

The prisoner said he stole a 10-gallon can of tractor gasoline and resumed his flight early yesterday. He stated that his crash at Adamsville was caused by running out of gas again.

The other fugitives have been identified by authorities as Charles R. Maley, 24, Springfield, O.; William E. McClellan, 23, Cumberland, Md.; Edward Elsbury, 21, Marietta, Pa.; and Edward Harrison, 31, Henryetta, Okla.

Cootie Fund For Deshon Party Is Swelled In Ellwood

Almost $3,000 Contributed By Merchants And Residents Of Ellwood City During Drive

Through the interest of Shenango Pup Tent, Military Order of the Cooties, the veterans who are undergoing treatment at Deshon hospital will be assured of a real Christmas treat this year.

Harold Kildoo, chairman for Ellwood City, today reported that $2,958.92 had been received from Ellwood City merchants and residents which included a contribution of $750 by the Ellwood City post VFW.

In addition, there have been some fine contributions made by manufacturers, which include safety razors, gum, tooth brushes, etc. Each of the 900 men hospitalized there will receive a fountain pen, in addition to the other articles in his box.

Donations of home-made candy are now being sought from women's groups. This will be packed in cellophane bags with the donor's name included, Mr. Kildoo stated.

Only a small amount more of money is needed by the Cooties, a VFW group, to make the Christmas party one which will be long remembered by the hospitalized veterans.

Bow-Arrow Used In Towing Cable Across River Span

READING, Pa., Dec. 3.—(INS)—"I shot an arrow into the air—" You can stop right there, for Carl E. Baer know where his arrow was going to land, because he was shooting for more than just target practice.

When Baer stood on one bank of the Schuylkill he aimed carefully at a spot 225 feet away on the opposite side of the river. Tied to the arrow was a fine nylon string that was to follow the arrow to the other side of the river and by pulling successively larger ropes across, a cable was eventually to be towed across the span.

Baer let the arrow fly and it went straight and true to its mark. Thus was completed the first step in replacing a cable used to maneuver a dredge. The cable was recently snapped by high waters.

The first complete line of Christmas cards in the United States was printed in 1875 by Louis Prang, an immigrant lithographer exiled from Germany following the unsuccessful revolution there in 1848.

total operating sum of $14,386.46. The Democrats' working capital compared with approximately $88,000 reportedly spent by the Republican State committee.

Largest contributions to the Democratic committee's purse were $1000 each by former U. S. Sen. Joseph F. Guffey, Pittsburgh, and U. S. Sen. Francis Myers, Philadelphia.

Labor Secretary To Outline Wage And Price Control

By WILLIAM THEIS
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Secretary of Labor Schwelmbach told Congress Wednesday he will submit a bill next week outlining the extent of wage and price control powers which can be given President Truman by Congress to combat inflation.

Schwelmbach informed the House Banking committee that he has ordered work to begin on a "draft of standards" defining possible emergency powers which might be given the Chief Executive to curb prices and wages constitutionally.

He informed the committee a sample bill may be ready by next Wednesday or Thursday.

Drafting Bill
Afterwards, Schwelmbach emphasized that he is drafting the bill at the request of the committee and it will not be considered an "administration bill."

He told the committee it was his intention to "present a set of standards by which this committee will know the extent of the authority which can be given to the executive branch."

Schwelmbach, who appeared for further questioning by the committee, emphasized that the President is not asking for "blanket authority" over prices and wages.

Relative to the announcement of CIO President Phil Murray that his union will seek wage increases to counteract high prices, Schwelmbach commented:

Wage Increase Factor
"I am just assuming this, but I believe that the question of the cost of living at the time contracts expire would be the material factor in determining the increase to be asked for labor."

His statement was made to Rep. Monroney (D) Okla., who had asked for an estimate of wage increases which might be asked by labor if no action is taken on the President's program.

Schwelmbach agreed with Monroney that even if no Marshall plan were contemplated, "the administration would still be forced to worry about prices."

He declared that the pressure on the domestic market for stop-gap aid already has been discounted in the inflationary spiral.

LINEMAN FATALLY INJURED
CARBONDALE, Pa., Dec. 4.—(INS)—A Scranton Electric Company lineman preparing to descend a pole near Carbondale fell 20 feet and died on a rock pile.

He was identified as Henry Clay, 47, of Waymart, a veteran of World War I and a native of New Jersey.

Need Funds Aiding Navajo Children Says H. Taylor

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 4.—(INS)—"In order to keep our treaty pledges with the Navajo Indians, it is imperative that Congress appropriate sufficient funds," says Howard G. Taylor Jr., member of the board of directors of the American Friends Service committee.

Taylor, who has just returned from an investigation of the Navajo reservation in New Mexico and Arizona reports that the basic need is for education. "Out of 25,000 children on the reservation," he says, "only 8,000 are in school."

Other needs, according to Taylor, are transportation facilities, and adequate employment.

The word woman comes from the old English "wifemann," meaning the wife-half of man.

Lallo Sabotin Repeats Decision Over Bell

Bucs Trade Two For Texas Loop Second-Sacker

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 4.—(INS)—The Pittsburgh Pirates announced Wednesday they had traded infielders Jimmy Bloodworth and Vic Barnhart to the Brooklyn Dodgers for second baseman Romanus (Monty) Bassett, who played with Worth of the Texas League last year.

It was a player deal with no cash involved, the Pirate front office was informed from Miami, Fla., by General Manager H. Roy Hamey.

Bloodworth played second base both at Pittsburgh and at the Bucs' Indianapolis farm last year. Barnhart played with Albany of the Eastern League.

Gen. Manager Roy Hamey announced yesterday that Elbie Fletcher, veteran first baseman, had been sold outright to the Cleveland Indians, after other National League teams had passed up a chance to get him at the waiver price.

Fletcher saw but little action with the Pirates last season, after injuring his ankle in a spring exhibition game.

Along with the Cleveland deal, the Indians sold their first baseman, Les Fleming, to Indianapolis. The Pirate management claimed there was no connection between the two sales, despite the fact Indianapolis is a Pirate farm club.

Penn State's Bob Higgins unblushingly admits that his unbeaten, untied 1947 football team tops anything he has ever coached in 28 years as a major college mentor.

Pottery Whips Calabra Quint For Loop Lead

Score Is 48-44: Croton-Epworth Post Church League Wins At 'Y' Court

The Shenango Pottery five took an unchallenged lead in the new Civic-Industrial League last night at the Y. M. C. A. floor as they topped the Calabra Club, 48-44 in a real cage thriller.

The "Gabby" DeCaprio quint had a one-point lead at the intermission, 15-14, but the Pottery came back strong in the second half in the ding-dong battle.

The winners were paced by the marksmanship of Cooper and Korb who accounted for 30 points between them. Sam Calazza with 15 and Ross with 16, sparked for the losing outfit.

Church Loop Results
In the Church League battle last night, the Crotons nosed out the St. George quint, 28-25, despite a good showing by E. Hrisoulas of the losers. In the other clash the Epworths breezed past the First Congregational, 44-28, sparked by Morgan and Wainio.

YEOMAN CADET CAPTAIN
WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 4.—(INS)—Center Bill Yeoman is the new captain of the Army football team, succeeding guard Joe Stiffy for the 1948 season.

Yeoman has two years left at the Academy, but the only one season of football eligibility. The six-foot, 180-pounder from Glendale, Ariz., played one year at Texas A. and M. before coming to West Point.

Yeoman has been a star center for the past two seasons, and is also a regular guard on the Cadet basketball team.

BISC Threat

JOHN "SONNY" PATAKY

John "Sonny" Pataky, former Pitt ace, is one of the standpoint performers for the Butler BISC cage team which will oppose the K. Pulaski Flippers in the city Sunday afternoon.

Pataky stands 6-3 and is the first string center.

ELKS WILL PLAY BUTLER MOOSE

Elks Card Strong Butler Moose For Saturday Game At Washington Floor

New Castle Elks basketball team will play the strong Butler Moose quintet at Washington High floor Saturday night, it was announced by Business Manager Austin Cowmeadow today. The prelim at 7:15 o'clock will see the Elks Reserves playing the Shenango Pottery five.

The Butler lineup will contain the following names: Steve Shuber and Merle Janotti at the forwards, Mike Pucci at center, 6 feet 4 inches and George Klaus and Jack Denny at the guards. The Moose have a fine team and a good record.

The Elks losers to Westminster, Geneva and Youngstown College will strive to grab off their first win of the season.

Largest crowd of the Penn State football season was the 53,000 which turned out for the season's finale against Pittsburgh.

TWO TKO'S MARK BOUTS AT ARENA

Marshall, Quinn, DeSantis, Moore, Leasure, Ronzi And Hyde Win Fights

Lallo Sabotin, Warren high school student, who has not yet met up with his eighteenth milestone, last night decisioned Ike Bell, colored, of Youngstown, in three fast rounds in The Arena. It was the second time Lallo's fists subjugated Bell. It was the feature battle.

The opening stanza was fairly even, but in the second chapter, Lallo hammered both head and body while Bell fought entirely for the head. Ike appeared tired at the end of the second chapter.

Sabotin carried the fight to his taller opponent in the third, and his ravishing attack forced Bell to grab and hold at times, and at the end of the fight, Lallo was clearly entitled to the verdict.

Several weeks ago Lallo decisioned Bell in a furious three-round battle, after it looked as though he would fall a victim in the first round. However, he came through in the last two to win.

Hyde Beats Zanish
Tony Zanish of Sharon tried to "nail" Bob Hyde of Slippery Rock a la Bill Bradley when the bell rang but Bob stepped aside and a right to Zanish's head stopped his rush, shaking him up visibly.

Hyde jabbed and crossed as he circled his Sharon opponent in the second, and carried this campaign through in the third round. He was the winner unanimously of a hard, vicious three-round battle at 165.

George Wolfe of Youngstown did not appear, hence Rizleri Ronzi, the reliable, also of Youngstown, showed up and took on Eddie Falletta, of Steubenville, whom he decisioned in a heavyweight fight recently.

In the second Ronzi put a left and right to body then crossed a right to the chin that set down Falletta for a count of nine. Falletta got up and weathered a fusillade of punches.

Ronzi staggered Falletta with a left to the chin in the third. His nose bled from constant punching but he gamely fought back. The decision given Rizleri was unanimous.

Brunton Suffers TKO
Jim Marshall of Youngstown scored a technical knockout over Walter Brunton of New Castle in the second round of a middleweight bout. Brunton proved too inexperienced for Marshall.

Other fights, all of which were good follows:
Jimmy Quinn, of Youngstown, decisioned Ernest Neal of Youngstown, at 120, three rounds.

Tommy DeSantis, of Youngstown, decisioned Tally Thornton of Aliquippa, at 120, three rounds.

Thoris Moore, of Youngstown, scored a TKO in the first round over Gene Sebastian, of Sharon, in the first round, at 160.

Les Leasure, of New Castle, won a split decision over Calvin Hill of Youngstown, at 160, in three rugged rounds. Leasure stalked Hill for two rounds but Hill fought aggressively in the third. It was a close fight.

The referee was Ray Leyschok, judges, Arthur Carpenter and Bob Fraser; announcer, Charles Walther; timekeeper, William Fazzone, and matchmaker, Tommy Leach. The Jefferson A.C. promoted the show which drew a slim attendance due to the holiday season.

Jersey Joe's Manager Nixes Donovan As Ref

GRENLOCH, N. J., Dec. 4.—(INS)—Joe Webster, manager of Jersey Joe Walcott, will make a formal request that the referee for the Joe Louis heavyweight title fight Friday night be some one besides Arthur Donovan.

Webster announced today that he will appeal to the New York Boxing Commission at the weighing in on Friday against the appointment of Donovan, who has been the third man in most of the champion's fights.

Webster said:
"I am not questioning Donovan's ability or honesty, but he has refereed most of Louis' fights since the latter won the title from Jim Braddock and I think a change would be welcomed by the fans—as well as by Walcott and myself."
"I have no man in mind now will I suggest any one to the commission, but I will be delighted with any one other than Donovan."

"Other than that, Walcott is in marvelous condition both mentally and physically and is confident of winning."

Whether Webster's request for passing up Donovan in the forthcoming battle will be granted will not be known until the fighters enter the ring. The commission announces the referee and judges at the ringside from its list of duly qualified officials.

HANK HEADED FOR YANKEES?

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Reports that Slugger Hank Greenberg finally will wind up in a New York Yankee uniform next season were back in circulation today following announcement that he will be operated on Friday for removal of chips in his elbow.

The operation was ordered on his right arm after an examination of X-ray pictures by doctors. Greenberg, a native New Yorker, reportedly is eager to play one more season, preferably in his home town.

Sabotin Outpoints Bell

Lallo Sabotin, Warren, O. high school youth, continued his mastery over Ike Bell of Youngstown last night in the amateur head-liner at The Arena.

The Warren fighter took a unanimous decision for his second straight triumph over the colored boxer in a re-match.

Irish-Trojan Clash Will Lure 104,000

By FRANK NEILL (International News Service Sports Writer)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—You could be sure to one thing today about Saturday's grid titanic between Notre Dame and Southern California:

Both teams will show up for the "Game of the Year."

And so will about 104,000 other football fanatics, many of whom are chucking about $50 for scalpers seats in the end zone.

Everything else about this impending battle of the behemoths is strictly double-talk.

The score?
Gents who earn livelihoods betting a bob or two on the outcome of athletic contests have established the Irish a flat 13-point favorite to whip the Trojans.

One Notre Dame scout swears the Irish will romp over the coast of the coast by 60 points.

Sees USC Victory
At the other extreme is Coach Bert Labracherie, whose UCLA club was flattened 6 to 0 by Southern Cal two weeks ago. He candidly calls for a Trojan victory.

So do a flock of sports scribes. These prognosticators of an upset, base their alleged logic on the fact Notre Dame's schedule was weaker than the coast conference champs'. Irish foes have lost a total of 43 games.

The Trojan line is the heaviest the Irish have confronted all semester. The Trojan reserves are deep enough to handle any deluge of subs Frank Leahy will shoot at them.

But this edition of South Benders is being referred to as probably the greatest Notre Dame team of all time, in the same breath with such teams as the 1924 Four Horsemen and the 1929-30 national champions.

RAADIK FIGHTS TONIGHT

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Punches will be trumps tonight at the Chicago Stadium when Anton Raadik, hrd-hitting Estonian middleweight, clashes with Al "Red" Priest, of Boston, in a 10-round feature bout.

Raadik has proved himself one of the most dangerous punching middleweights in the boxing game in the approximate one year and a half he has been performing in Chicago rings.

BEARS WHIP LIONS
HERSHEY, Pa., Dec. 4.—(INS)—The Hershey Bears defeated the Washington Lions 6-3 last night in the Sports Arena in an American Hockey League contest before more than 5000 spectators.

The Bears, trailing 2-1 at the end of the opening period, were ahead 3-2 at the close of the middle stanza and added three more goals in the final period while the Lions added one goal.

Nine Quints To Engage In Pre-Loop Encounters

Wampum's "B" Champs Entertain Monaca; Shenango Takes On Ellwood; New Castle Will Not Open Until Dec. 9; East Brook Hi Also Idle.

County scholastic basketball moves into high gear Friday night with nine of the 11 schools in action. Only New Castle and East Brook will be idle—the Red Hurricane not hitting the boards until next Tuesday against Youngstown East, and the Brookers slated to resume again Dec. 12.

There were some resounding reverberations from Tuesday's lid-lifters. Perhaps the noisiest boom was set off by East Brook high's Eagles, who, starting under a new coach, Clarence Ruthauff, slaughtered Slippery Rock high, 61-18, with a lethal attack. The "Brooks" may spell plenty of trouble to their Section 23 foes this campaign.

Ellwood City showed great strength in battering Union high's "Scotties", 55-22, in a game that was figured by many to be much closer. Coach Ted Wallace of the Wolverines has a seasoned squad this year and may make quite a splash in the Section 3 pond. Behind his letter-winning "Big Six", the Tuber mentor has some classy sophomores who sparked in the Junior WPIAL grind last season.

The Blue and White squad will take on another Section 23 outfit this Friday, when they help Shenango high's Wildcats lift the 1947-48 curtain. Riddled by graduation, coach Eddie Nahas is dejection and figures his quint 15 to 20 point underdogs against the class "A" five.

Bessemer Shows Form
Bessemer high's Cementers displayed plenty of floor savvy Tuesday in knocking off Darlington, and seemingly have taken up the slack left by the loss of Paul Madrid and Joe Tonya, last year's coaches. The Ciccone lads will trek to North Lima, O. Friday for their second tilt of the season.

Wampum, class "B" champ of the county's WPIAL loop two years running, will show their ware for the first time against class "A" Monaca on their home hardwood. Coach Butler Hennon must fill yawning gaps left by the graduation of such top-flight lads as Dave Kanagy, Ray Jackson, Chuck Badger and Frankie Procopio.

Princeton high will open at home against Zellenople and is gunning for a successful inaugural. Mt. Jackson, clipped by Freedom Tuesday, 45-26, will try to even the balance books when they go to Fairfield.

Union moves into Mercer county to battle Hickory and New Wilmington, off to a good start, will entertain Mercer. Plaingrove's game with Slippery Rock has been cancelled and the Grovers are seeking an opponent. They lost to Penn Tuesday, 29-9.

Section Three Card Announced

Loop Frays Begin January 6 With Seven Schools Competing For Honors

Rugged Section 3, one of the toughest loops in the WPIAL, will again operate this campaign with seven class A schools, with the first tip-offs slated for January 6. Due to the odd number of schools in the section one team will draw a bye each playing night.

The inaugurals will find New Castle at Ambridge, Aliquippa at Beaver Falls and Sharon at Ellwood City. Farrell will not start until Jan. 9 when they entertain Ellwood.

The section card:
January 6—Aliquippa at Beaver Falls, New Castle at Ambridge, Sharon at Ellwood City.

January 9—Beaver Falls at New Castle, Ambridge at Sharon, Ellwood City at Farrell.

January 13—Sharon at Beaver Falls, Farrell at Ambridge, New Castle at Aliquippa.

January 16—Beaver Falls at Farrell, Ambridge at Ellwood City, Aliquippa at Sharon.

January 20—Ellwood City at Beaver Falls, Farrell at Aliquippa, Sharon at New Castle.

January 23—Beaver Falls at Ambridge, Aliquippa at New Castle, New Castle at Ellwood City.

January 27—Ambridge at Aliquippa, Ellwood City at New Castle, Farrell at Sharon.

February 3—Beaver Falls at Aliquippa, Ambridge at New Castle, Ellwood City at Sharon.

February 6—New Castle at Beaver Falls, Sharon at Ambridge, Farrell at Ellwood City.

February 10—Beaver Falls at Sharon, Ambridge at Farrell, Aliquippa at New Castle.

February 13—Farrell at Beaver Falls, Ellwood City at Ambridge, Sharon at Aliquippa.

February 17—Beaver Falls at Ellwood City, Aliquippa at Farrell, New Castle at Sharon.

February 20—Ambridge at Beaver Falls, Ellwood City at Aliquippa, Farrell at New Castle.

February 24—Aliquippa at Ambridge, New Castle at Ellwood City, Sharon at Farrell.

Rickey Paged For Comment On Leo Story

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Branch Rickey, Sr., was in the process of being paged on various "fronts" today for comment on the New York Daily Mirror's story that Leo Durocher had been signed last night as Brooklyn Dodger manager for 1948.

At the Brooklyn offices, it was said that Rickey had been out of town "for several days" and an attempt to reach the club president at his Chestertown, Md., farm—where the signing was said to have taken place—likewise proved unsuccessful.

Nor could Durocher, the reinstated object of Commissioner Chandler's official wrath last April, be reached at his midtown apartment.

The story said Rickey, Sr., and the chastened Leo had consummated their deal in a secret meeting for that purpose.

Denials were immediately forthcoming from Branch Rickey, Jr., at the baseball meetings in Miami. But, as is well known, only Branch Rickey, Sr., can speak for Branch Rickey, Sr.

Twelve Hunters Hurt First Day

HARRISBURG, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Twelve hunters were injured during the first day of the deer season, but there were no fatal accidents, it was reported today by the State Game Commission.

The record was held better than that of last year when fewer sportsmen were abroad, but two hunters were killed a few hours after the season opened. The buck season began Monday and will close tomorrow.

The commission reported officially that Fulton County will be closed to the antlerless deer season effective only on December 13. Union County may be added to the list.

Nimrods had good weather for the season, with a tracking snow covering most of the best deer country, the commission said, but the kill generally was poorer than last year.

"Most deer are light in weight, the racks small and scrubby and only occasionally is a plump animal checker," the commission said.

PALE ROSE BUY CHICKS

MIAMI, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Leslie O'Connor, general manager of the Chicago White Sox, announced Wednesday that the American League club has taken over control of the Memphis Chickens of the Southern Association.

O'Connor said the deal was consummated yesterday following a conference between White Sox officials and Doc Prothro, of the Memphis club.

DUKES WIN AGAIN

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Duquesne University's basketball team had its second pre-season victory chalked up today.

Warming up to the regular season which opens next week, the Dukes last night whipped the Bellvue A. A., 59-27, on the Bellvue High School court.

Center John Barry was the leading scorer for Chick Davies' five, netting 15 points.

Penn State's football defenses set a record in 1947 by yielding only 17 yards per game along the ground.

SMALL, BUT GOOD

By Jack Sords

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

ANTLERLESS deer are too plentiful, according to state game commission officials, hence there'll be a slaughter between 7 a. m. and 5 p. m., December 13. . . . Several larders here are bulging with deer meat. . . . Bob Lamoree, former president of the Lawrence County Sportsman's Association and Adolf Lang are hunting at Ward's ranch. . . . George Watters got a buck. . . . Frankie Moran boxes the veteran Johnny Chatman of Buffalo and Harold Hazlett battles Pedro Bradley of Cleveland in bouts on tonight's card in Youngstown, where Bobby Claus of Buffalo fights Jimmy McDonough of Brooklyn. . . . After two rounds of play in the Johnson Bronze Employees Association bowling loop, the Brass Shop No. 1 team continues to pace the field with 16 wins and five losses. Brass Shop No. 2, Foundry, Office, Aluminum and Maintenance teams follow in order named. . . . Spaniel hunting dog owned by Socks Welch, which was lost while hunting, was found by Ray Showalter. . . . Bass season expired with November. The world's record Northern pike, 46 pounds, two ounces, was caught by Peter Dubuc, in Sacaganda Reservoir, according to Sports Afield, which also says that the Canadian goose mates for life, and it is believed that should one be killed or die, the survivor usually remains unmated for life.

Joe Louis stands to earn $100,000, or more, and Jersey Joe Walcott, at least $40,000, from their Friday night battle in New York. . . . Although he lost a leg by amputation, hunting fever asserted itself and Neal Williams, Raymond street, spent several days at a deer hunting lodge in the big woods. . . . Dumb Dan Morgan, old, but yet one of the ring's wisecracks is on record as stating he expects Jersey Joe to give the Brown Bomber trouble. He says Louis will not be able to jab Walcott who has been in shape for two years and when Louis stops jabbing and begins to hook and he infers that is when Jersey Joe will worry Louis. . . . Dick Williams, veteran fisherman, has stored his fishing tackle until trout season comes in April. . . . Hays T. Enright, supervising director of Division Y, reports more hunters were after bucks the first day of the season than during any day during his career, excepting a short doe season.

Tiger Flowers was the first Negro to hold the middleweight title defeating Harry Greb in a fifteen round fight in New York in 1926.

Only the two service academies, Army and Navy, scored victories over Penn State's soccer team.

UN Skyscrapers Mostly Of Glass

Chief Architect Of World Capital Believes Buildings Not Of Revolutionary Design

NEW YORK—(INS)—Hailed as probably the most radical building design ever attempted on a huge scale, the United Nations city skyscrapers, with their towering facades of glass and steel, recently were given unqualified approval by architectural critics following a dramatic preview of Flushing Meadows.

In providing for great walls of glass and vast areas enclosed of massive panes, the UN architects have produced a design that is "revolutionary rather than revolutionary," in the opinion of leading architectural authorities.

The 40-story secretariat skyscraper will stand like a glass block against the New York skyline. Glass will be the motif throughout the buildings, an innovation that gives the impression that glass supports the structures. Architects regard this extraordinary use of glass as part of the current building trend.

Wallace K. Harrison, chief architect of the world capital, said: "Not Revolutionary—Experimental" "I do not call these buildings revolutionary. They are, to us, experimental. They will bring in more light and there is nothing that can take the place of natural daylight."

The chief asset is the eye-appeal of the worker, that, and the psychological effect of working "outdoors," or almost outdoors. We do not anticipate any trouble in controlling the solar heat in the air conditioned buildings. We do not know yet, but the cost of extensive use of glass appears to be on a par with use of other structural materials."

Reflecting the views of the glass industry, J. W. Wiley, architectural consultant of Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass company, said that the UN skyscraper-of-glass design was a natural trend in "the renaissance which is leading to greater freedom for working and living."

The increase in glass construction and particularly in the UN building was hailed by Philip C. Johnson, consultant to the architectural division of the Museum of Modern Art, as "a sensible return to an early American custom of using glass in construction and building."

Kenneth K. Stowell, editor of Architectural Record, said: "The current trend is definitely toward glass buildings. Psychologically, it helps people to work in 'unenclosed' places, normal people and claustrophobes."

He added that "structurally, there are still some problems, particularly reinforcement of concrete, plastics and steel."

Only one opponent, Navy, gained more than 100 yards through Penn State's big, rugged line as the Nittany Lions established what may go down into the books as the most phenomenal defensive record ever made by a college football team.

Penn State's team triumph in the NCAA cross-country championship marked its first outright victory in national competition. The Nittany Lion harriers had previously shared an NCAA team title with Indiana University.

Clamp Embargo On Coal Exports Needed In Homes
WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(INS)—The Commerce Department clamped an embargo today on the export of grades of soft coal most commonly used in American homes.

The ban, effective immediately, will restrict shipments of "lump and double-screened coal" which is processed by cleaning and screening methods for use mainly in home furnaces.

The prohibition will apply mainly to soft coal, since an export embargo has already been placed on most anthracite coal.

Commerce officials said that the embargo will have only a negligible effect on shipments abroad that only a small amount of "lump and double screened coal" has been shipped abroad in previous months and that any export drop caused by the present embargo can be made up with common grades of coal which are not in short supply.

They added that the embargo will result in an increase of about half a million tons a month to domestic consumers.

Out of 2,500 war brides and babies of GI's still in England, only 760 are cleared for the trip to the United States. The rest of the wives either have not been asked for by their American husbands, or have neglected to fill out the forms indicating their desire to come to the United States.

Progress is a seaport of Mexico, situated on the north coast of the Yucatan peninsula. It is the port of the city of Merida, and the principal port of the state of Yucatan. Steamship lines connect the town with Vera Cruz and various ports in the United States.

More than 25 per cent of all foods used by Americans are dairy products.

STOCKS SHOW LITTLE CHANGE

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(INS)—Stocks declined today for the ninth time in the last eleven sessions. Business was slightly heavier than yesterday when 920,000 shares changed hands.

Losses were restricted to fractions, with all sections under mild pressure.

Declines of around 1/2 point were sustained by active leaders like U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodyear, Air Reduction, International Harvester, American Car & Foundry and most of the rail issues.

Coca Cola tumbled 1/2 points for one of the few major changes. Pacific Western Oil recouped 2 1/2 points of a 9 point break yesterday.

Bonds and curb exchanges worked toward lower levels. Commodities declined moderately.
